"We must begin here and now – a new continent of earth and fire . . ."

Paul Kantner, Jefferson Airplane

Mindflash!
Lightning strikes the mind forests . . .

A new Wittenberg
thrusts up,
shucks off dust,
and tangles its hair
in the trees, laughing . . .

each new voice
electrifies the air, redefines the sky
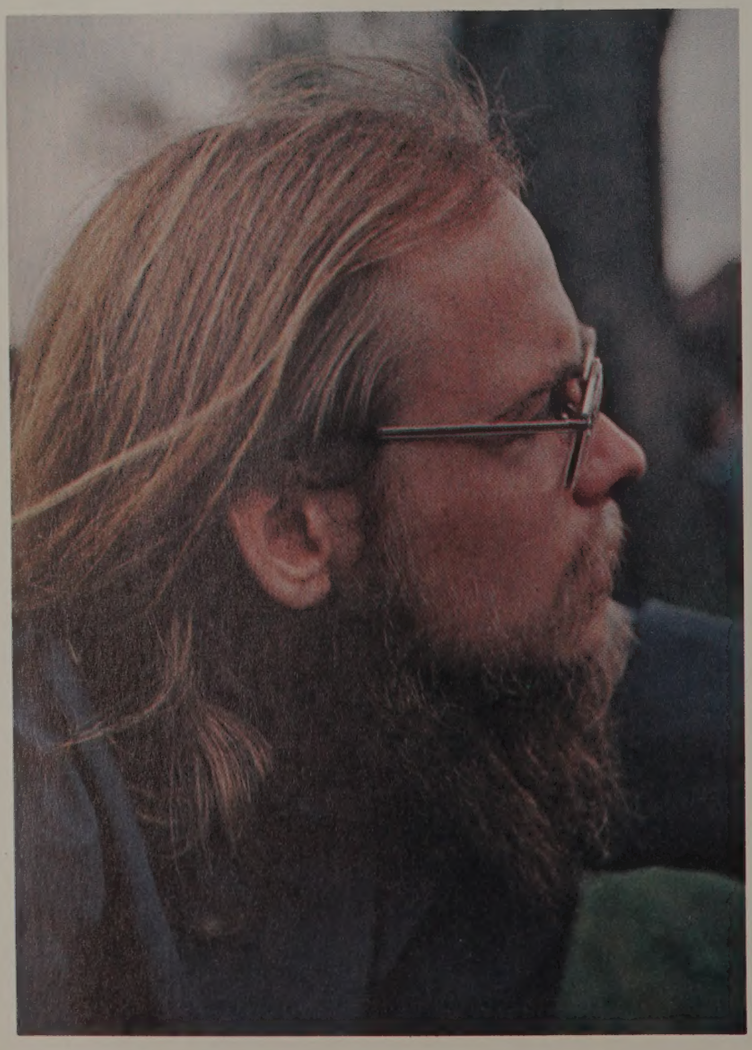
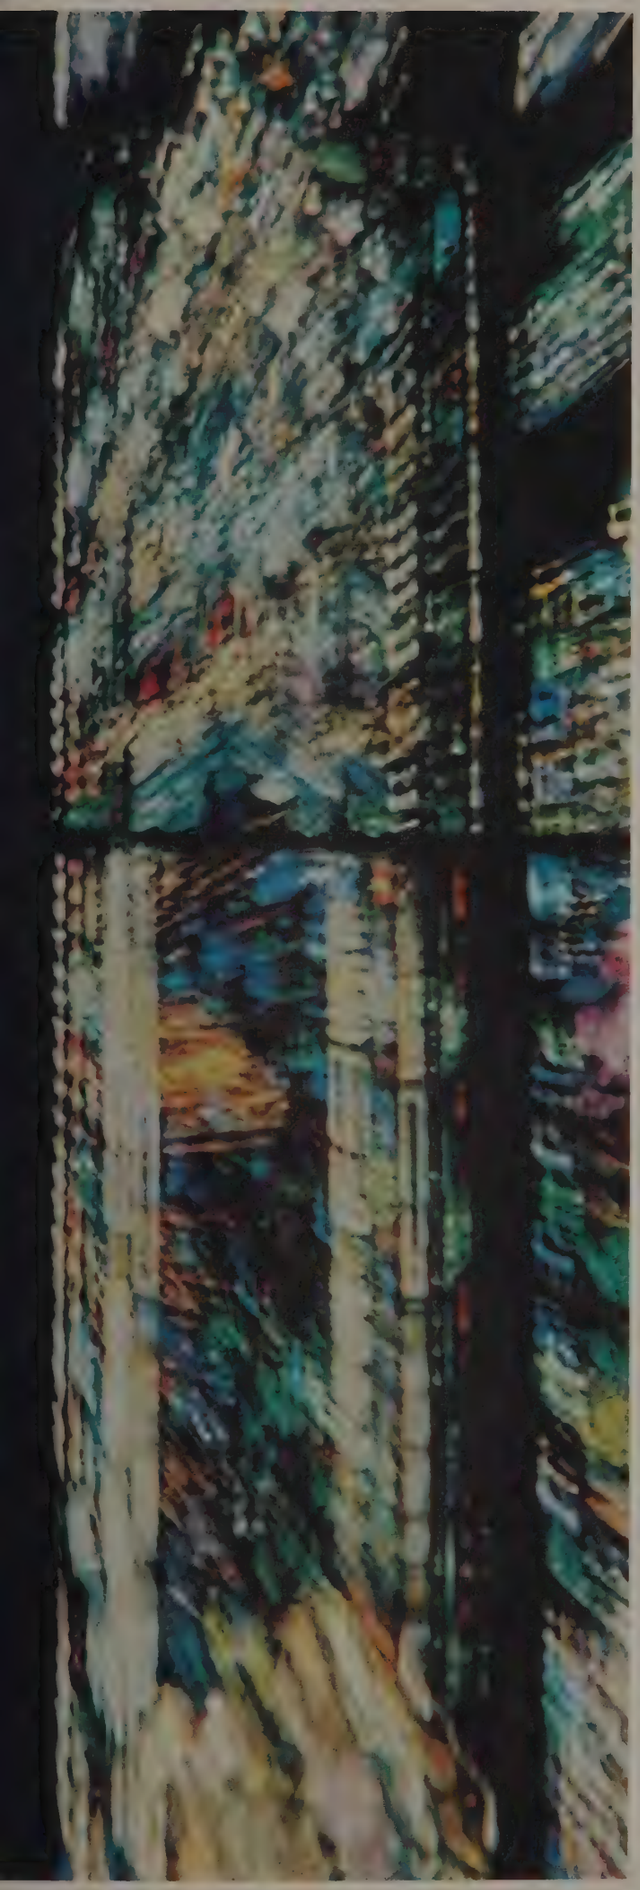
in its flight . . .

far, far out . . .



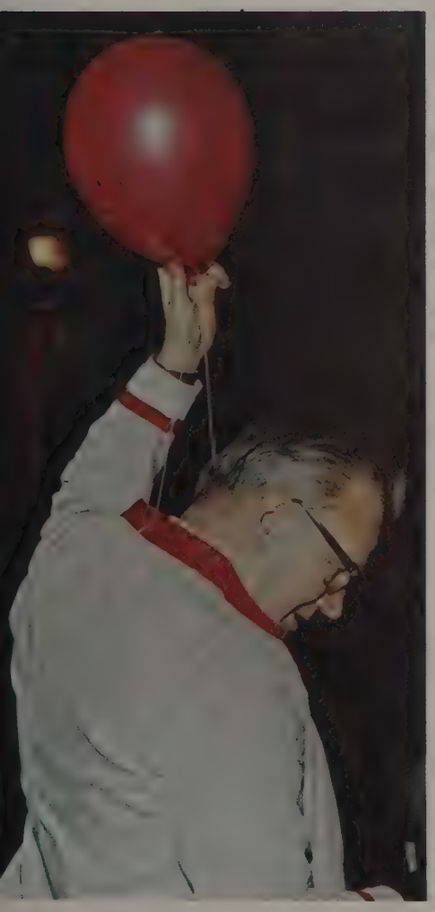


. . . and back in again,
to confront a world of bricked-in blindness.

To tear down walls
is to build living human space – a gesture of reverence, and of joy.

The young have much to teach . . .

. . . for we have learned that the true teachers are those who can rediscover the wisdoms of youth.



Learning upturns the hourglass
— an act of liberation.

Wittenberg. Fine old hodge-podge of buildings, perpetual landscaping – each leaf pasted in place, fountains that turn on just in time for the cover of the Bulletin.

But people have stopped living catalogue lives.

We are each other's classrooms.
The real campus is flying free in our heads.

Inside each of us
is enough for a school to celebrate for a lifetime.

Maybe next year's Witt will be printed on the face of a kite . . .

"Rejoice, rejoice,
we have no choice . . ."

— Stephan Stills

The Year

A series of short films on "Why Man Creates," "A Thousand Clowns," Theatre Workshop productions, books including The Double Helix and Bonhoeffer's Letters from Prison, and a strawberry "happening" at 8:45 in the morning, introduced freshmen to the campus this year. This was, of course, coupled with the usual dorm meetings, registration lines, testing and discussions. Discussions were a bit more relaxed this year, as some groups preferred sitting on the grass to a more formal classroom situation.

It was hectic, but freshmen and counselors alike seem to have survived to begin classes. And apparently, according to the counselors, the class of '73 didn't spend much time being intimidated by the new surroundings.

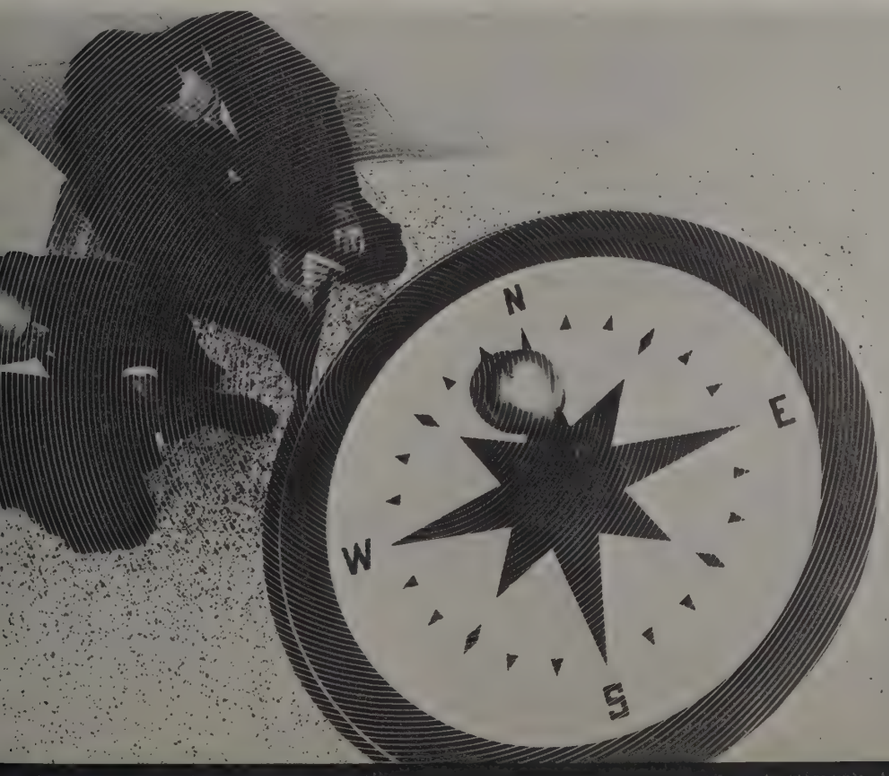
Freshman Seminar

Carnegie Opening

Originally erected in 1908, with the aid of Andrew Carnegie, Carnegie Hall has been undergoing renovation. The building was again in use this year since renovation was completed. Formerly Wittenberg's Science Building, Carnegie now houses the Departments of Business Administration, Economics, Geography, and Sociology.

"It" Happened

Ominous signs reading: "It's coming," "Watch out for it," "It will be here soon" heralded the Union Board pie fight which attracted many curiosity seekers who inevitably became either wholehearted or reluctant participants in the messy merry-making.



Arthur C. Clarke

One of the first speakers of the year was Union Board sponsored Arthur C. Clarke, co-author of "2001: A Space Odyssey." Mr. Clarke spoke to a full house at the Union as he sketched the possibilities of the future.

The result of his achievements and his attitude towards science are reflected in "Clarke's Law:" "When a distinguished but elderly scientist states that something is possible, he is almost certainly right. When he states that something is impossible, he is very probably wrong."

The year 2001 could mark the division, Clarke said, between civilization and barbarism and the final end of the dark ages may come.

October Moratorium

Wittenberg took its first baby step towards attempting to get itself together with its observance of the October Moratorium. Dr. Robert Hartje, professor of history, considered this "the most exciting activity since I came here." It's true that participation in this event was unprecedented—never before had so many expressed an interest in understanding the Vietnam War—but student involvement was to grow even more as the year progressed.

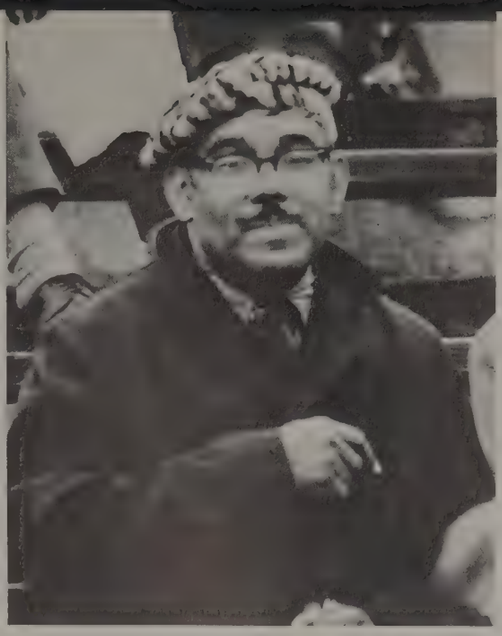
Senate sponsored the Moratorium through the Witt Forum which was headed by Mike Smith. The theme was "Vietnam—What do you care?" A special moratorium chapel service was held in the morning during which a "tree of life" was planted. The afternoon hours of October 15 were devoted to the reading of war protest poems of the past and present. That evening, a team of faculty members voiced their views on political, economic, and religious reasons why the U. S. should pull out of Vietnam. Policy, the circumstances which put us in Vietnam, and the alternatives to our present policy were also presented. A discussion, led by a panel of faculty and students, followed the talks. The major topic was what the Wittenberg student can do to protest the war.

Hamma students also participated in moratorium activities and silently carried an empty coffin to downtown Springfield, memorializing and protesting those killed in the Vietnam war.

Homecoming 1969

A concert by the Wind Ensemble on the Union Terrace was a highlight of the Homecoming week-end that included an alumni seminar on "Changing Values in Christian Higher Education." The purpose of the seminar, planned by the Special Services Committee of the Alumni Association, was to keep alumni in touch with a changing campus. Seminar activities began with a lecture by Dr. E. D. Farwell, president of Decorah College in Iowa. The speaker emphasized the need for change in the nation's colleges and universities and declared: "If this place doesn't change, then it will soon lose its place as a significant educational institution." He further told the alumni: "The youth who study here are yours and their future is your future. Identify with them, trust them, and move forward with a determination as though the destiny of Wittenberg was in their hands. It is."

Other seminar activities included a multi-media presentation comparing life at Wittenberg and Antioch; a panel of professors presenting topics which ranged from experimental approaches in education to specific detail of new studies such as the East Asian Focus and Black Studies; and small group discussions.



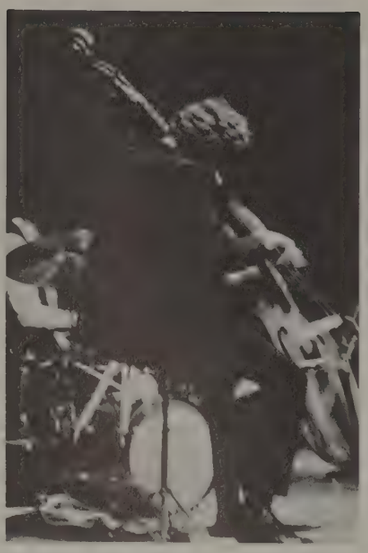
A carnival luncheon on Zimmerman Field preceded the 16-12 come-from-behind Homecoming victory over Baldwin-Wallace. This marked Wittenberg's fourteenth consecutive Homecoming win. The game began with a festive air as the crowd released hundreds of balloons.

Other highlights of the football season included the "Centennial Game" against Lehigh which celebrated the 100th anniversary of intercollegiate football. Wittenberg invited all former cheerleaders to participate as it defeated Lehigh 21-13. Barb Baird reigned as Centennial queen. The Dad's Day game meant the Tigers ninth undefeated season as they trounced Wagner 56-0.

Its 10-0 overall season won Wittenberg its sixth Ohio Conference championship in nine years, moved the university to a 79-9-1 record in the 1960's for the nation's best mark in college football for the decade, and gained the school 13th place in the AP small college poll. This spectacular 78th season of football at Witt was still not over as the Tigers went on to their first Bowl game, downing William Jewell College of Liberty, Mo., 27-21 in the Alonzo Stagg Bowl. The bowl game won the NCAA Western Regional Championship for Wittenberg among small college teams in a 36-state area.

Homecoming 1969 brought the reintroduction of Torchy, an old favorite. Joyce Templar, a junior from Pittsburgh, was crowned queen at halftime activities. Joyce was nominated by Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. Bev Bates and Cathy Weaver were members of her court.

"Beeline to Victory" won a first place trophy for South and Keller Halls in dormitory competition. "Hive Got a Secret" was winning Beta Theta Pi entry in fraternity competition. Second and third places went to Delta Sigma Phi and Phi Kappa Psi. Sororities did not enter competition.

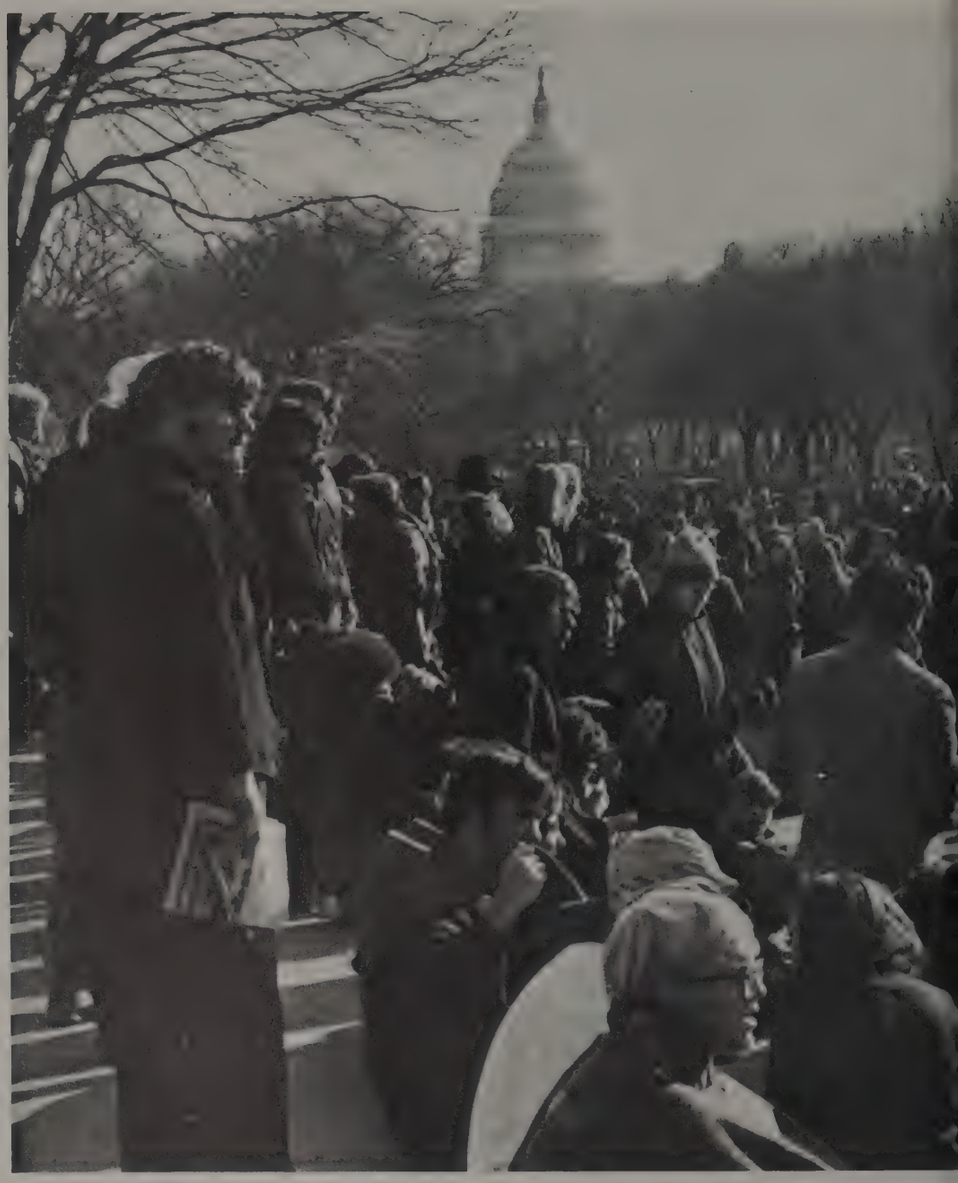


Herbie Mann

At 9:15 p.m. Friday, October 24, jazz flutist Herbie Mann presented an "African Hour" featuring the bossa nova beat. Rated number one for eight years in his field by Downbeat magazine, Mann has appeared several times at the Newport Folk Festival and is noted for being ahead of the times in his musical style. He was a big hit at the annual Homecoming Concert.

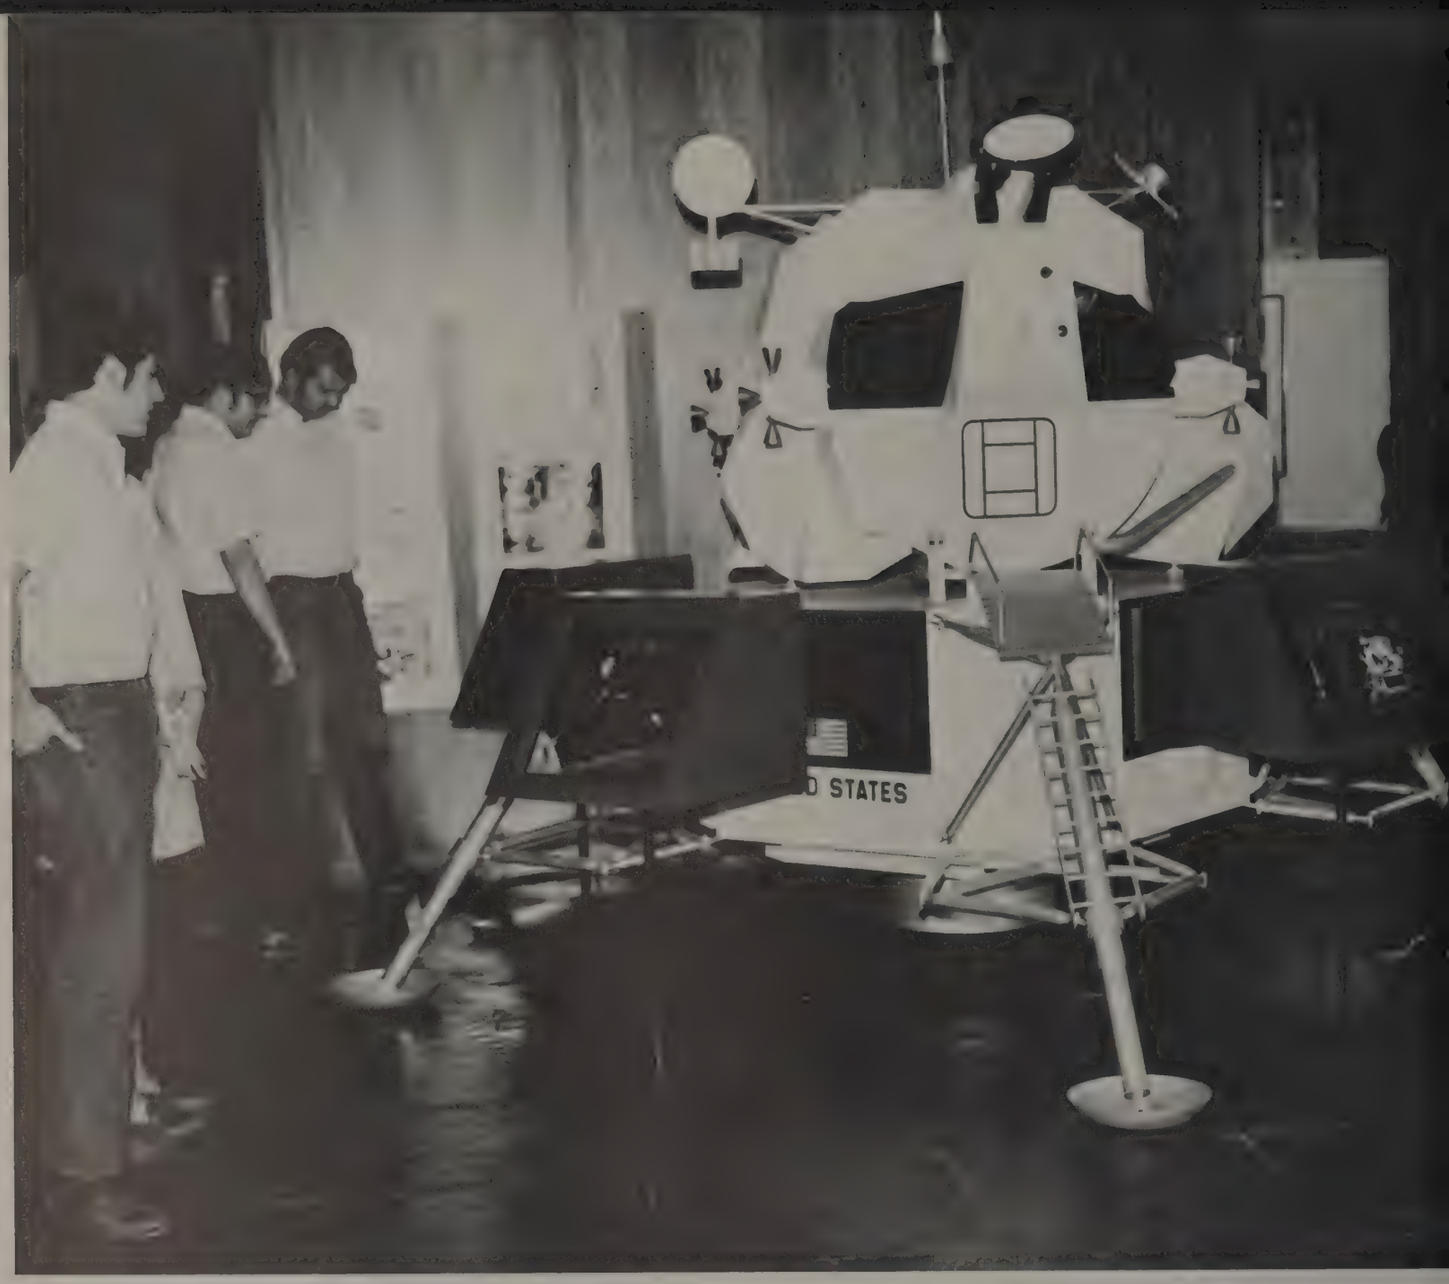
"The 78th Centennial Year" was the theme of the Homecoming Dance for alumni, parents and students held on Saturday evening in the Union Dining Room. Music was provided by the Brass Inc.

November Moratorium



Approximately 150 Wittenberg students boarded buses for the Washington Mass March with a bid from Malcolm Boyd: "Don't worry about why you are going . . . You are going, and that is good!" Arriving Saturday morning, Wittenberg took its place alongside hundreds of thousands of people who had come to participate in the largest anti-war demonstration ever staged in Washington's history. Out of sight!

Wittenberg joined with citizens from all over the nation in its participation in the November Moratorium. Witt Forum planned a program of speeches, memorial services, and canvassing of Springfield which began on November 11—Veteran's Day. A series of three lectures, scheduled for November 11-13 began on Tuesday with John J. Gilligan, former Cincinnati Councilman and U.S. representative from Ohio. The Rev. John R. Neuhaus, co-chairman of Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Vietnam, was second to speak. A torch procession and memorial service for the Vietnam dead began Thursday evening, in front of the Union. Released on bond after leading a peace service at the Pentagon, Malcolm Boyd came to deliver the final lecture in the series. He has been banned as a campus speaker by the Lutheran Student Union because of his "integrationist activities."



Neil Armstrong

Inauguration

Columbia and Eagle joined Neil Armstrong for the inauguration of Dr. Kenneth Andeen as the tenth president of Wittenberg. Through the cooperation of NASA, scale models of the lunar and command modules for the moon shot were displayed in the Union during the weekend of November 21. (Page 26, top).

Neil A. Armstrong, captain of the Apollo 11 crew and first man on the moon, received an honorary Doctor of Science Degree from Wittenberg at the inauguration of Dr. Andeen. Armstrong is a native of nearby Wapakoneta, Ohio.

Dr. Andeen commented: "We are thrilled that Wittenberg is the first institution to honor Mr. Armstrong with an honorary degree and that he has selected this institution, in its 125th year, as a representative of the independent liberal arts colleges of the country. Mr. Armstrong in so many ways represents the ideals for which we stand and we honor him too, for the profound influence he is having upon the lives of American youth."

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Armstrong, the astronaut's parents, (left) and a number of close friends and relatives also came to Wittenberg for the program.

Inauguration Dinner

President Andeen presented the following citation to Mr. Armstrong: "as your stride lengthened you went out to discover the sky, to soar the near and far reaches of space, to dare the moon, and to take that one small step that was a giant leap for mankind." Armstrong gave a short speech following the presentation. In it he stated that the most notable thing about the moon landing was the world-wide "sense of participation" in the venture. After the inauguration, Mr. Armstrong held a half-hour "Kid's Conference" with children aged 9 to 16. Armstrong impressed Wittenberg with his casual, down to earth manner. As Dean Dahl said, "I forgot how important he is as a hero in discovering how fine he is as a human being."

The inauguration began at 4:30 p.m., November 23, following a processional of approximately 400 persons led by Alma Mater, Debbie Smith, and Student Senate Speaker, Laura Franta. The procession moved from the Union to the Field House for the ceremonies. Dr. Andeen was installed by the Rev. Dr. John Rilling, president of the Ohio Synod of the Lutheran Church in America. Dr. Ernest Scott, chairman of the Board of Directors, presented him with the medallion, charter, and seal symbolic of his office.

The following are excerpts from President Andeen's inaugural address: "Our colleges and universities must be prepared for radical innovation if they are to remain viable institutions in meeting the educational needs of our students and our society." "I would predict the next decade as the generation of the concerned."

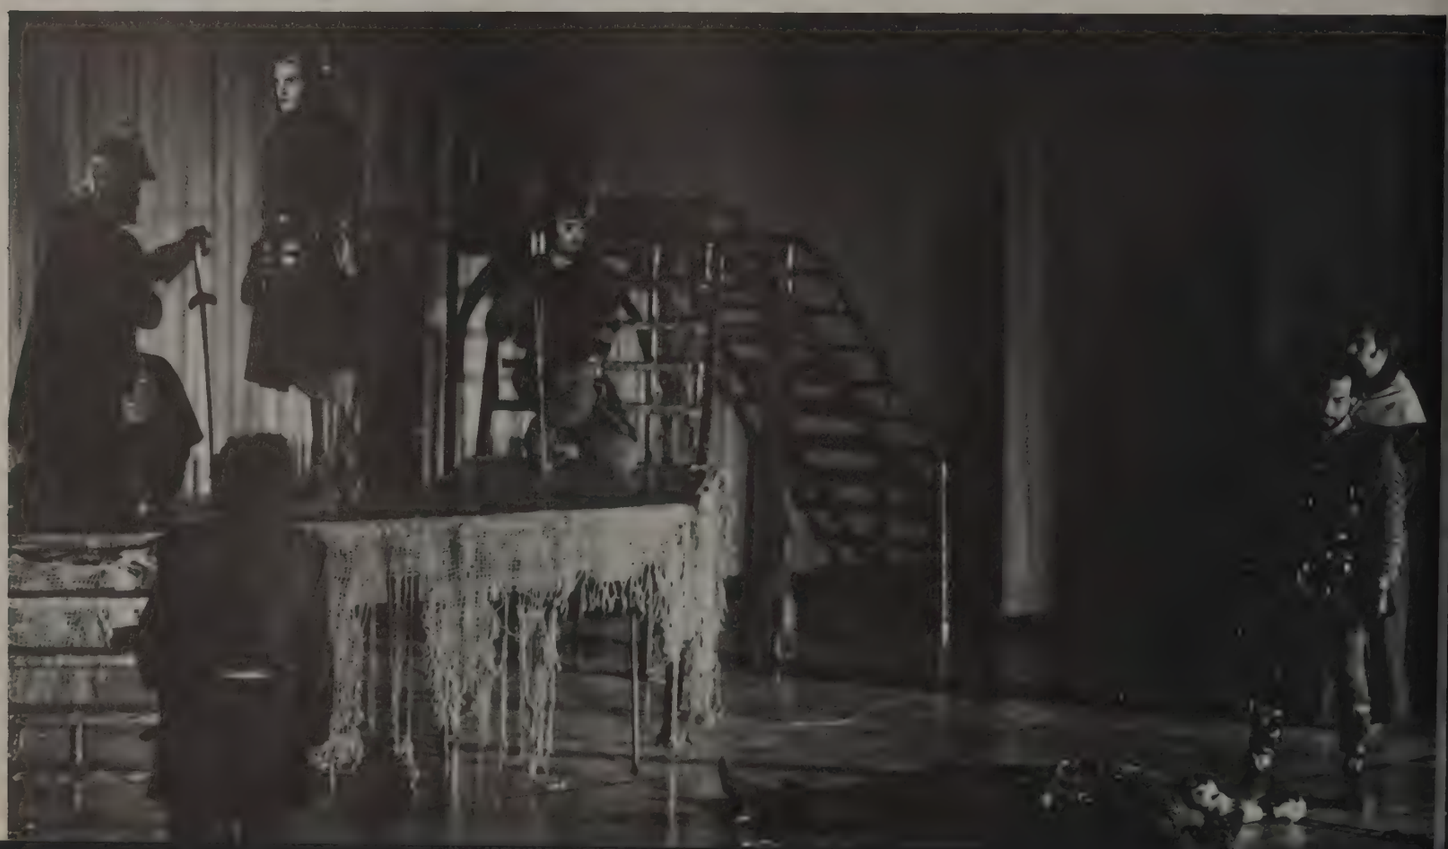
Wintertime

Macbeth

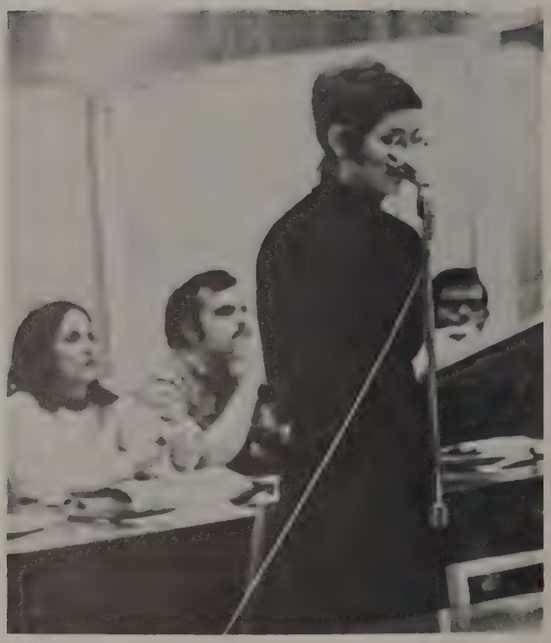
The National Shakespeare Company was on campus January 26 for the performance of "Macbeth." Their stop at Wittenberg was one of the many on their 30,000 mile, seven month tour of the country. Unfortunately, the audience, facilities, and a bungled tape conspired to make audience involvement—or even concentration—difficult.



Madalyn Murray O'Hair

On January 12, in front of an approximately 950 member audience of both Wittenberg and Springfield people, Madalyn Murray O'Hair expounded her views on "The Separation of Church and State in America." The notorious atheist began: "Actually, I'm very delighted to have the opportunity to corrupt the youth." Astounded that students consider America a Christian nation from the beginning, Murray proceeded to trace the anti-Christian attitudes in American history. Some alumni and friends expressed the belief that Mrs. O'Hair should not have been allowed to speak on campus. Response to this was a policy statement adopted November 22, 1966: "The campus shall therefore be open to all . . . with the further understanding that the University functions as an arena of freedom where ideas must stand on their merit alone."

EAG Demands

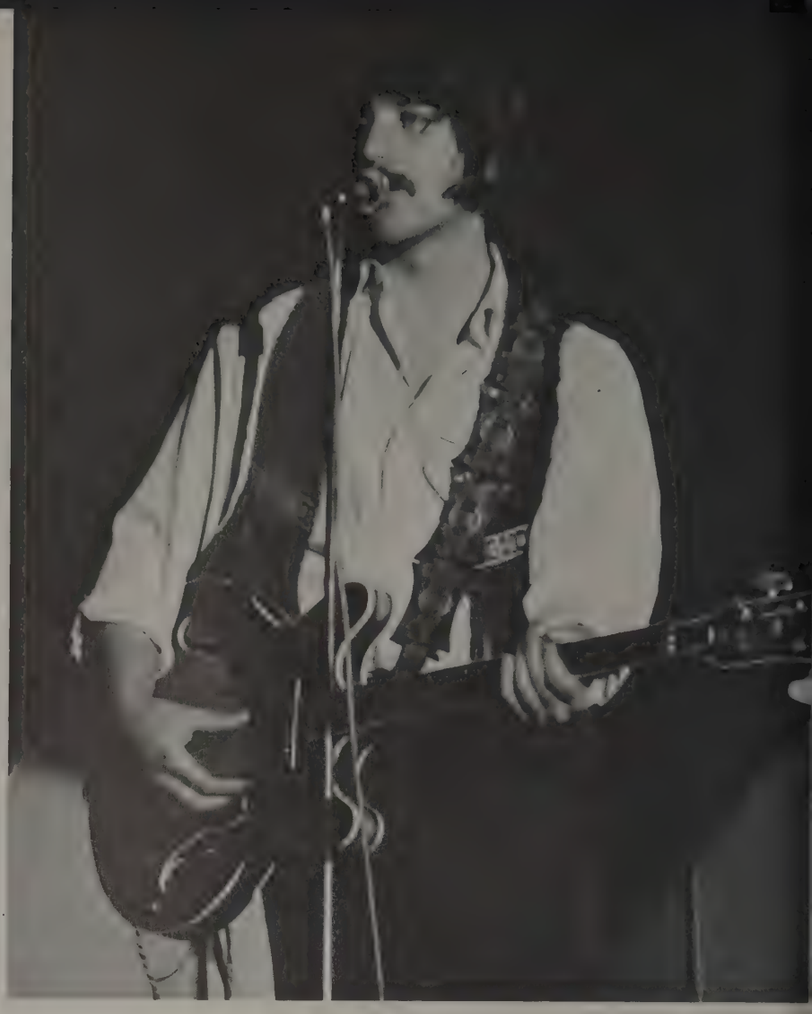


Union Closing

Having a closed Union policy, or not enforcing it equitably, is not the best way to make visitors feel welcome. In fact, such a situation is likely to cause considerable tension. Despite the efforts of some to get the University to change or at least define the present policy, nothing was done—at least not until a window was broken and a few outbursts occurred on February 20. Then with its usual ex post facto speed, the University closed the Union for the weekend while it developed a closed policy and its enforcement.

On February 23, the Encounter Action Group presented the administration with nine demands concerning white racist actions and policies. Specifically, the demands covered such areas as Project Equality, an open Union, a white racism course, curriculum revisions, hiring of a black admissions officer and more black professors, increase of black student enrollment, tenure policy change, and better facilities for non-academic personnel. Much controversy followed. Concerned Black Students criticized the demands at an open meeting, stating that this was another instance of white racism. They later issued a statement which read, in part: "While our courses parallel at times, it must be realized that we are working through two separate and different channels." CBS and EAG, now the Witt Committee of COUP, are now cooperating so that the two groups do not work at cross-purposes. What was formed is by no means a coalition, but for the first time, both white and black groups are working to attack racism at Wittenberg.

Grass Roots



Sponsored by the Environmental Action Committee, Earth Week was a busy week. The group sponsored an Information Center and Fair on the Esplanade in downtown Springfield, with demonstrations and other information centers downtown and at various Springfield area shopping centers. Many people were able to participate as dorm and greek house discussions were held where a variety of ecological topics were discussed. Several panel discussions were held throughout the week, looking at the environmental problem from various points of view. Panel topics included: "The Developer," "The Government," "The Military," "The Public," "Industry," "The Church," and "Agriculture." Newsweek's Science Editor, Peter Gwynne also came to speak. Other activities included a play about "The Environment," a mass media show on Ecology, and movies on air and water pollution. One student commented: "Earth Day is a commitment to make life better ... to provide real rather than rhetorical solutions ... It is a day to challenge corporate and governmental leaders who promise change but who shortchange the necessary programs."

By April 25, the Wittenberg Community Scholarship Fund thermometer in the Union lobby registered $23,500 in pledges to provide scholarships for students from low-income families who have the potential to succeed in college. (Page 35)

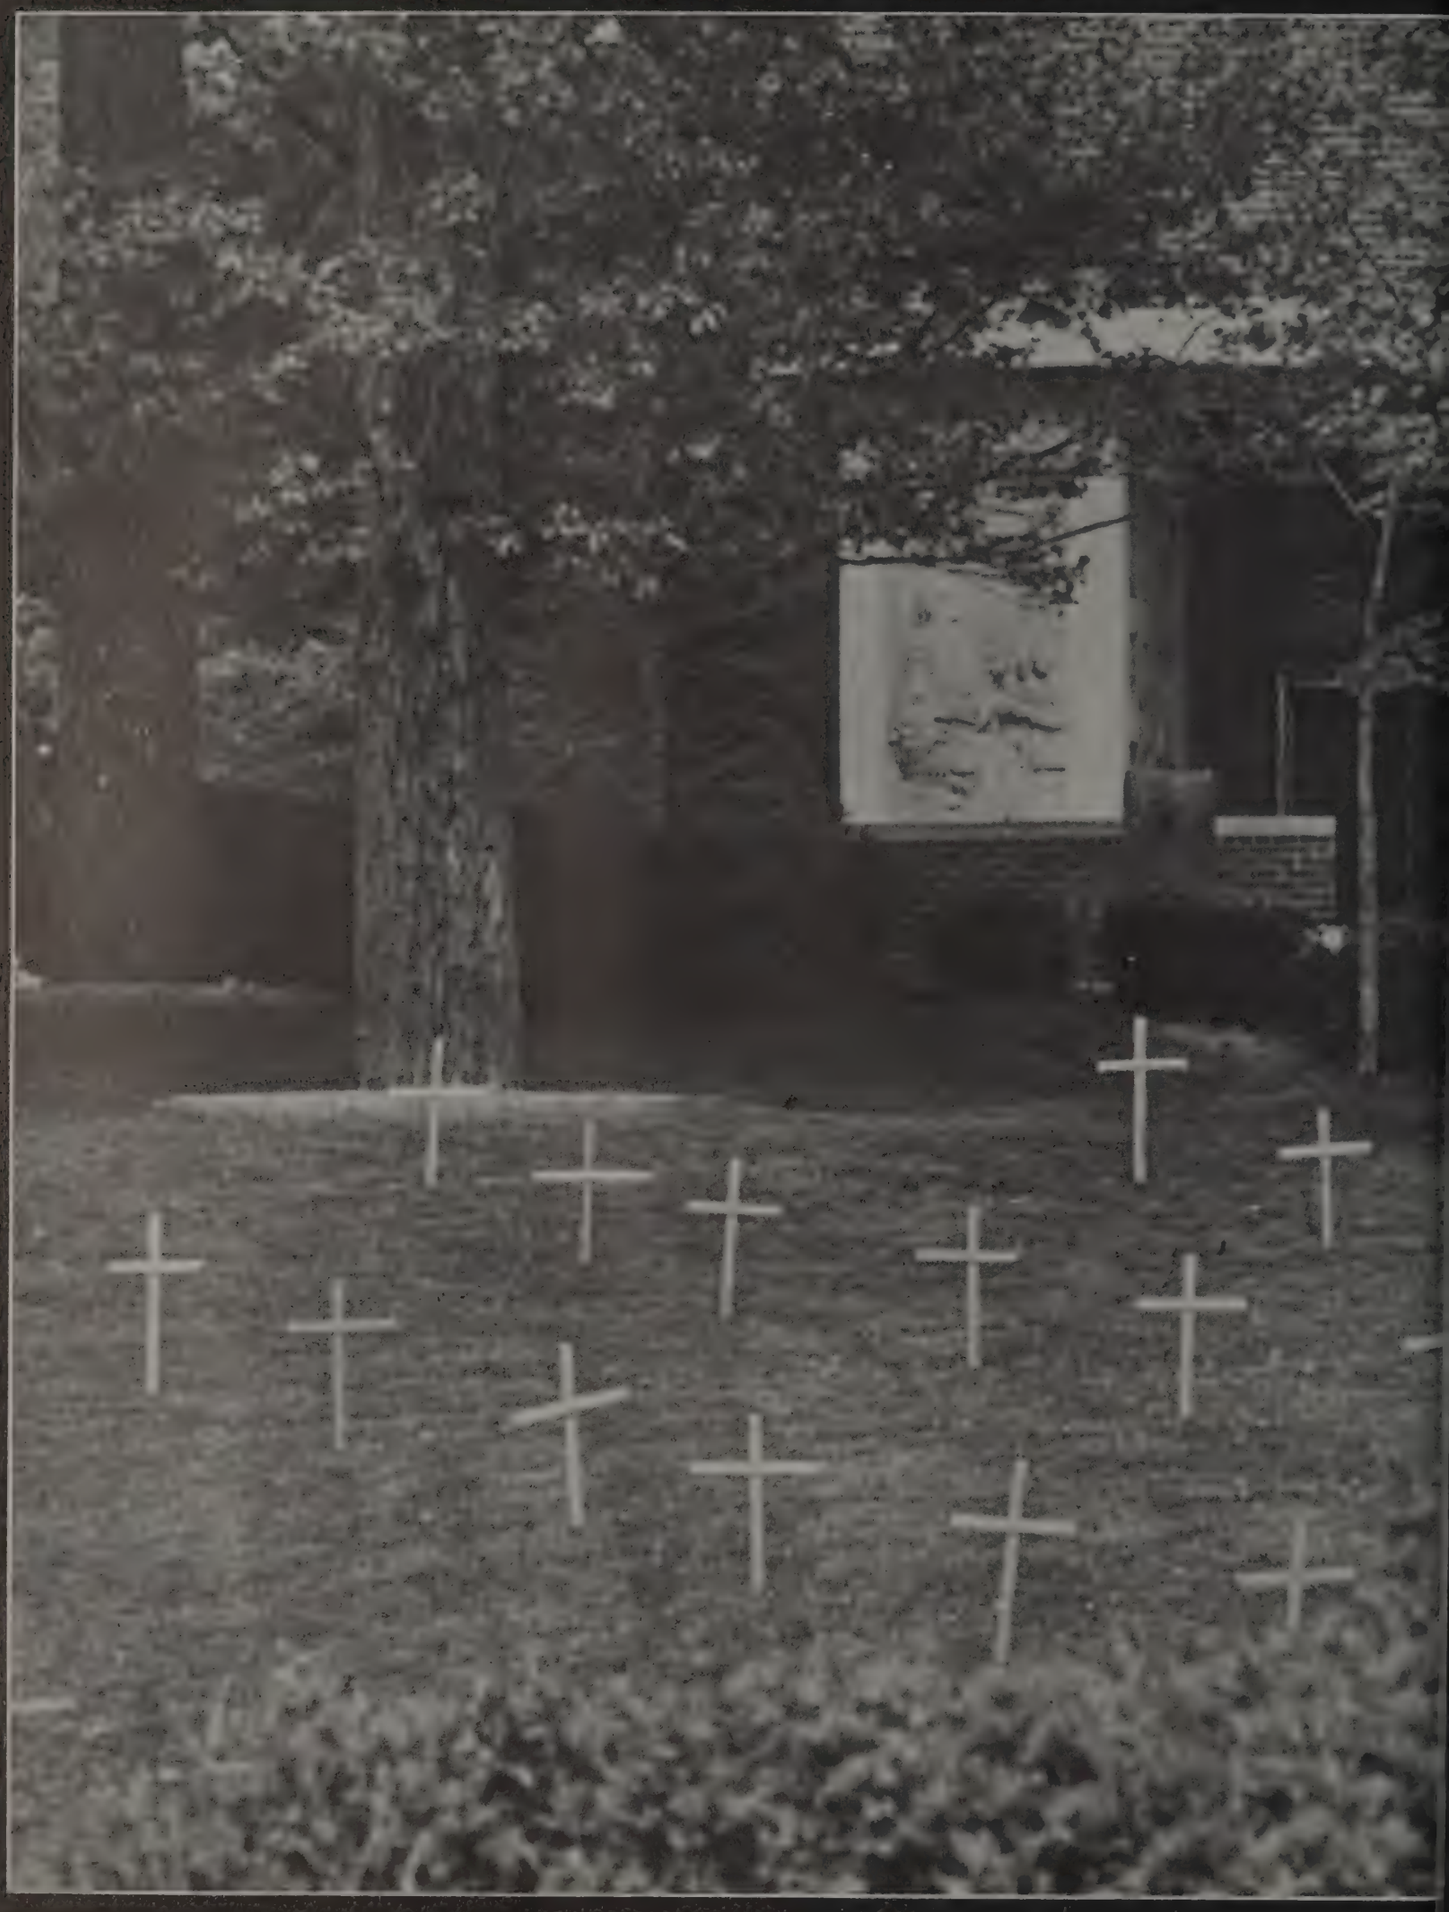
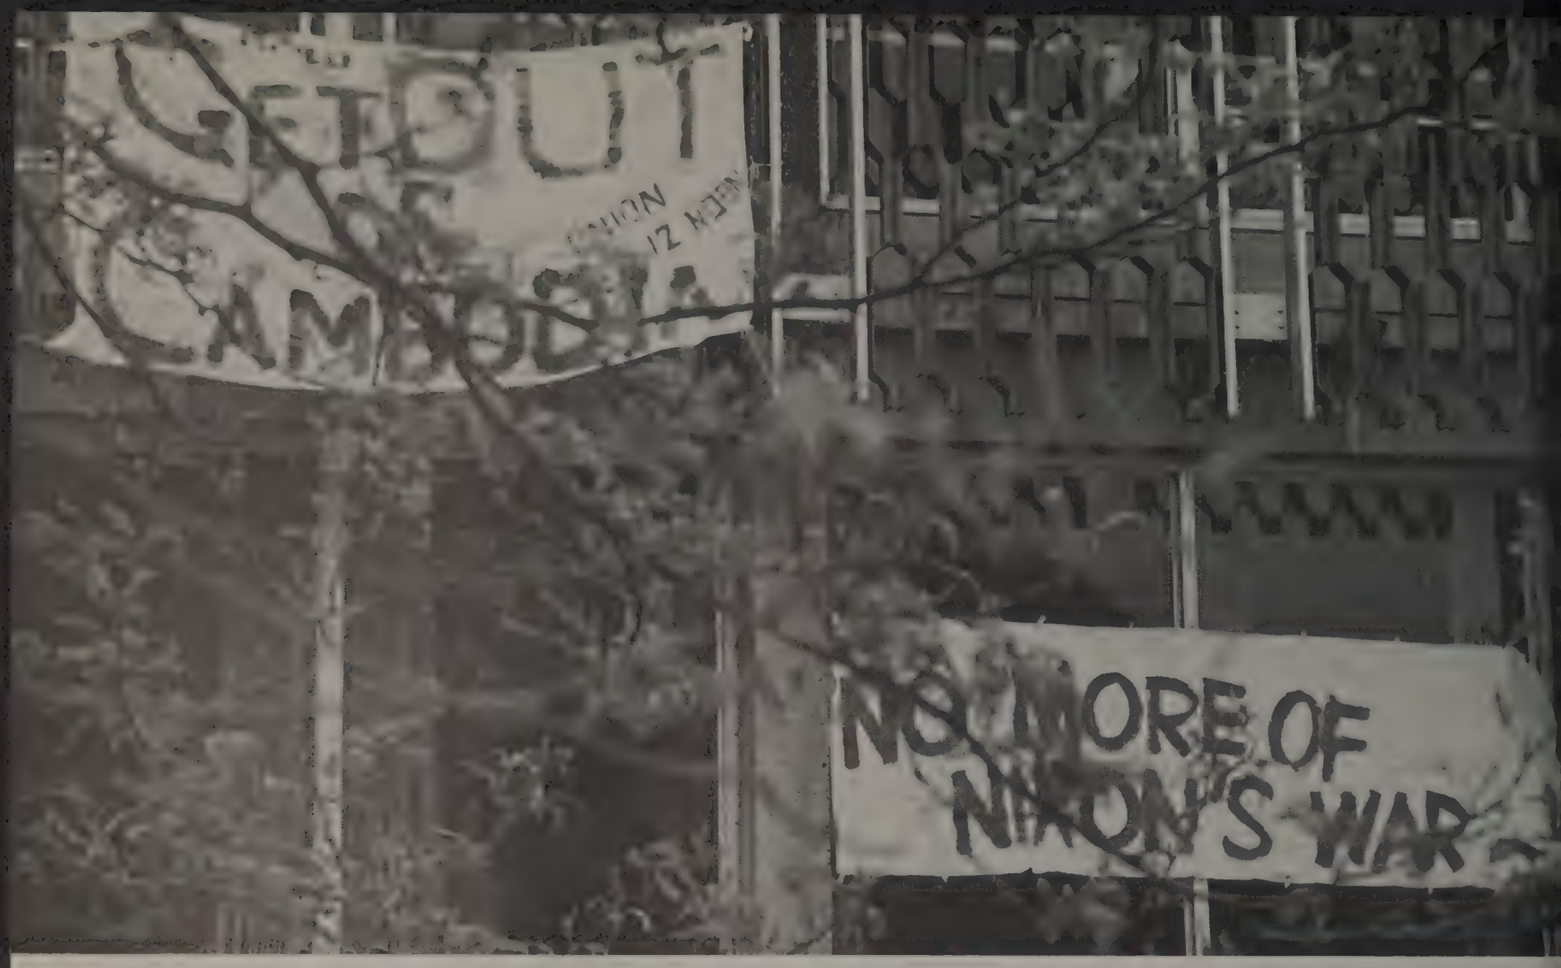
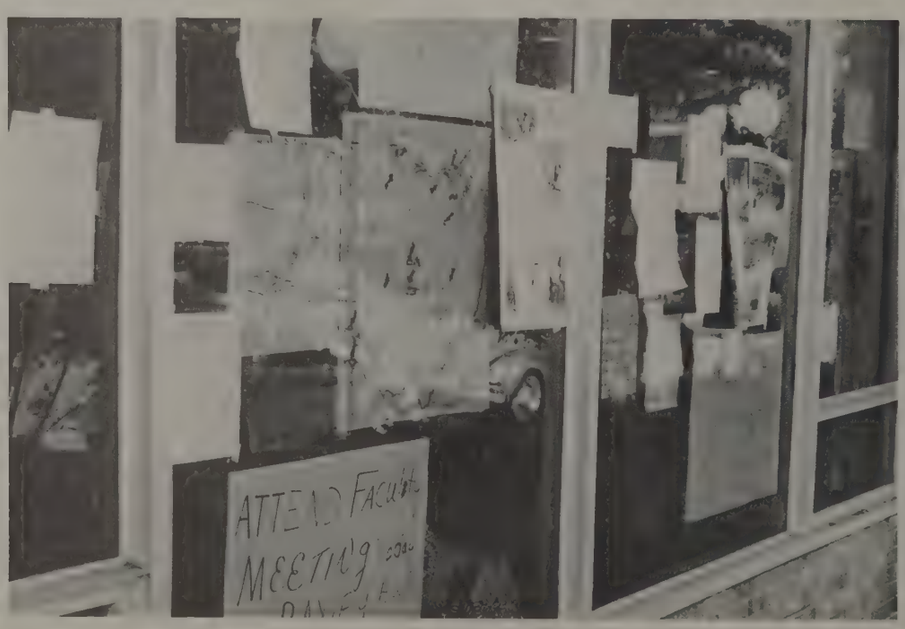
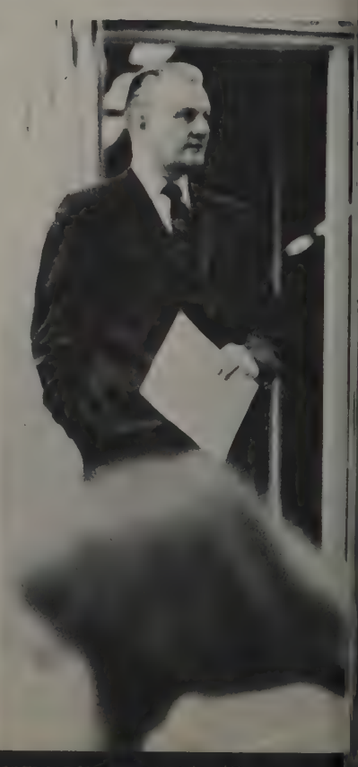
Tragedy:



Cambodia, Kent State, Jackson State, Augusta



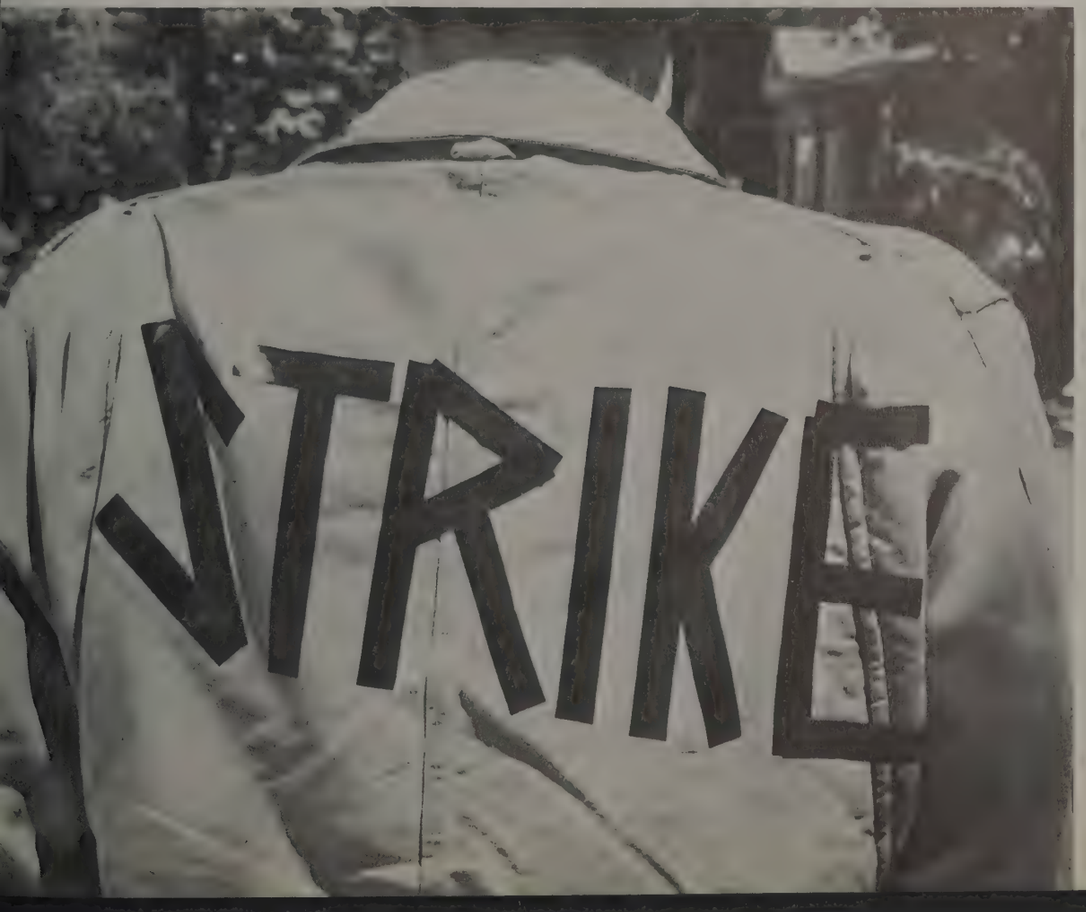




Cambodia

Kent State

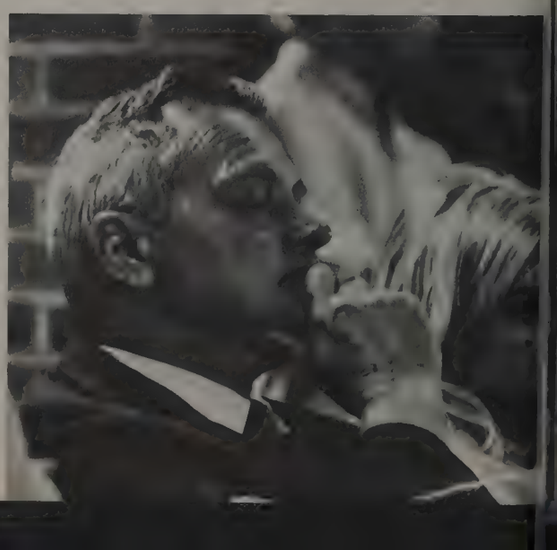
President Nixon delivered a speech on April 30 announcing that 8,000 U.S. troops had invaded Cambodia to support U.S. actions in South Vietnam. Immediately, protest arose on college campuses which was followed by a series of tragedies. First, there were the national guard killings of the four Kent State students, then the six Augusta, Georgia killings, and finally, the Jackson State students who were killed in their dorms. For once, world events had a massive effect on campus activities all over the nation—even at Wittenberg. An overwhelming feeling of crisis, anger, and disgust had brought many together.



Parents' Weekend: Teach-In

Students rallied fast at Witt in response to the Cambodia, Kent, Augusta, and Jackson tragedies. Support was widespread and spontaneous. The first event was a rally and silent vigil at noon on May 1. A line of concerned people stretched along the sidewalk from Hanley to the Business Center. After the vigil, the crowd sat on the Firestine mall to listen to those who wished to speak. In a free rap and discussion, plans were made to hold another vigil on Saturday. To continue the spirit, a number of students set up their instruments for a rock jam session. They played throughout the afternoon in a springtime affirmation of the joy of living, a stark but definitely related contrast to the noon vigil.

Approximately 150 students and faculty members decided to call a fast of three days, beginning Sunday night. Some reasons for fasting were: "Fasting reminds me that I am angry about the war and will not give up until it is over." "Fasting is a way to say I care about America." As the result of a write-in held in the Union, 150 letters and telegrams were sent to support the Reed Amendment. Other letters were sent to representatives and senators. An open meeting for all concerned began at 11 p.m. in the Union on Monday, May 4, with attendance of 700. The Union remained open all night while many stayed to discuss possible ways of showing their concern. An unofficial teach-in began Tuesday morning in Alma Mater Hollow. At the 3:30 p.m. faculty meeting, the faculty voted for suspension of classes on Wednesday, for a teach-in on the war. Films, lectures, and small discussion groups filled the next day. A decision was made to hold a teach-in for the parents as they came for Parents' Weekend. Even old traditional events had taken on a new light.



At a special meeting in the Grill Room on Tuesday, May 12, Peter Davis, president of the Concerned Black Students, read a statement concerning the death of six blacks in Georgia. Peter read that: "The violence that has occurred in the past week and a half is nothing new to black people in America. For years we have reiterated the point that something is wrong with our system of justice." He went on to pose three questions to the university and asked white Wittenberg: "Where now do your priorities lie?" The questions concerned the calling of an emergency Board meeting, procedures for the use of National Guard on campus, and the possibility of Dr. Andeen and the Board taking a stand on the recent tragedies. Dr. Andeen responded: "the University should not take a partisan position which would obligate or impinge upon the contrary choices by individuals within the community." The Georgia deaths were felt at least by the 150 students who swarmed to the Chapel after CBS was interrupted by a bomb scare in the Union. The memorial service at 7:30 a.m. the next day reflected this from-the-heart concern.

Strike and Teach-In

Columbus March

Students from all over Ohio marched in Columbus, on Friday, May 8, showing their distress over the death of their fellow students. Approximately 80 students from Wittenberg were present. Most everyone was in semi-battle dress—prepared for the worst, but even before 1 p.m., when the march began, apprehension gave way to a feeling of community. The crowd gathered on the grass in front of the Columbus Health Department and people began sharing apples and oranges. The marchers, led by Kent, were four abreast and marshals lined either side. Hamma seminarians were the Wittenberg marshals. Wittenberg fell in line near the end as everyone marched along Broad Street, across the bridge, and on to the capitol building. On the capitol grounds everyone took seats in the grass as representatives from each college took turns speaking on the capitol steps. Some twenty speakers presented resolutions, petitions, or simply said what they felt. Dallas Dunlap, speaking for Wittenberg stated: "You are gathered around a dead institution." The speaker from Kent thanked everyone for being there and urged: "keep the movement strong, and keep it together." The rally ended after the Kent speaker had finished. One student summed up the sentiments of many: "The past week I saw Wittenberg —for a while, anyway—become a place where you didn't need to put quotes around the word 'Community.' We—some of us, anyway—were Together."

All Sports Recognition

This year's All-Sports Recognition Banquet was held on Tuesday, May 26. Although Governor Rhodes was unable to attend, he sent along a Certificate of Achievement recognizing the Tiger's outstanding achievements in football for the 1960's. Those receiving the most valuable player trophies were: Larry Peacock—football and lacrosse, Tyrone Curry—basketball, Rocky Alt—baseball, Dale Linder—golf, Steve Hanneman—track, Mike Senich—tennis, John Fox—swimming, Mike Caruso—wrestling, Rod Iberri—soccer, and John Zerkle—cross country.

Due to the seriousness of the times, W-Day was not quite the day for frivolity that it normally is. Events for the day included croquet, free balloons, free miniature golf, a mud slide in Graduation Hollow, and a concert by Josh White, Jr. While on stage, Josh White talked informally, as he played the guitar, sang, and joked for an audience of about 200 students in the Field House.

The end of the year meant retirement for Dr. George Dudycha, professor of psychology; Elmo Jurkat, associate professor of fine arts, and Dr. Emerson Reck, vice-president. Earlier in the year, on Founder's Day, all three received Alumni Association Citations and Wittenberg chairs. Dr. Allen Koppenhaver, chairman of the English Department was recipient of the Distinguished Teaching Award which was presented also at the Founders Day Program.

Joe Lewis

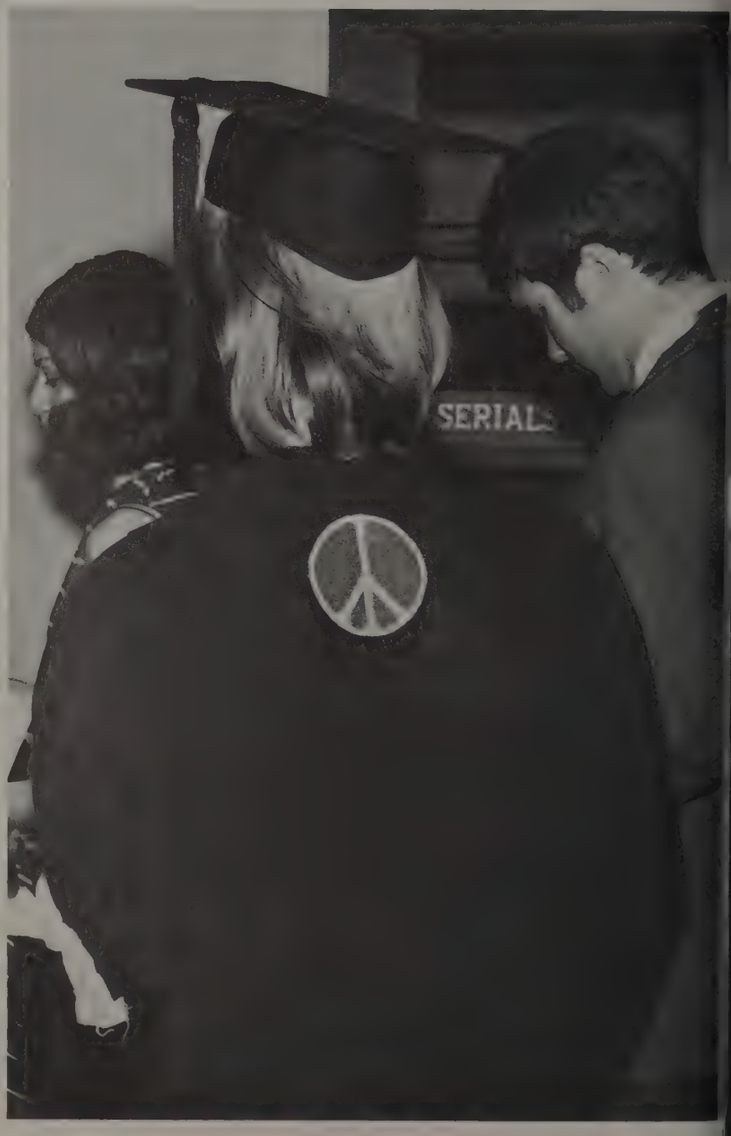
During the year, several people came to speak who were either already in a political office or who hoped to be elected. Joe Lewis, history professor at Central State, is one of the latter. He is running for United States Congress from Ohio.

The year's events—Cambodia and Kent—led many students to take positive action. One of the movements which resulted from this action is the Campaign '70 program. Campaign '70 is a non-partisan, academic program structured to give interested students a course load that will allow for full participation in the fall 1970 campaigns. The program allows for great flexibility in the student's schedule. Joe Lewis is one of the many candidates for which Wittenberg students will be working.

Gert Behanna

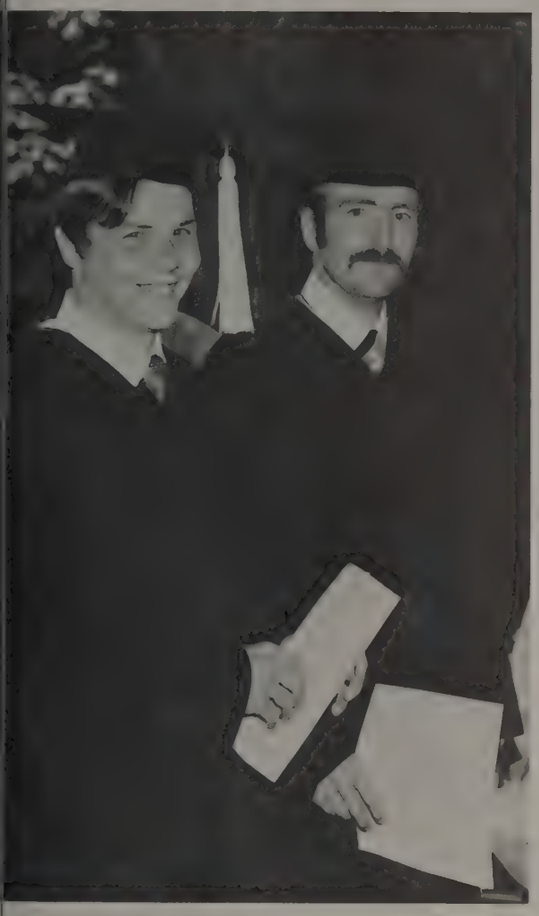
Men's Residence Hall Association brought a speaker to campus on May 18 and introduced her as a "small, old looking package, who will fool you." The speaker's name was Mrs. Gertrude Behanna, author, speaker and spell-binder. Her autobiography, The Late Liz, written under the pen name of Elizabeth Burns, has sold more than a million copies. Before a Wittenberg audience of about 200 people she revealed her faith in God and in people. She doesn't preach, she just talks ... with a tremendous wit and a wonderful conviction. Expressing her faith in youth, she said: "You cotton pickin' kids know you can change the world."

One of the final speakers of the year was Mr. Edwin Rieschauer, the Ambassador to Japan from 1961 to 1966. His topic was: "How do campus strikes in Japan compare to those in America?" One of his books, Beyond Vietnam, discusses the implications of American involvement in Vietnam.



Honors Convocation

Mortar Board chose Juniors Nancy Music, Diane Smith, and Ellen Trinter as candidates for Alma Mater. Ellen Trinter, elementary education major from Vermillen, Ohio, was chosen at the annual Honors Convocation, Friday, May 8. Ellen explains her view of Alma Mater: "It involves a chance to work with people in one's own individual capacity." Even this tradition was called into question by a sign reading: "Why not an "Alma Pater?", courtesy of Women's Liberation. Katie Pollock delivered the Ivy Oration and Don Borling presented the Oak Oration. Respondents were Richard Veler and Eugene Swanger.



Commencement

Commencement was held on June 14 as 526 degrees were conferred. Dr. Kenneth W. Thompson, vice-president of the Rockefeller Foundation was the speaker for commencement exercises held in the Field House. President Andeen was the baccalaureate speaker.

Hotel Paradiso

Presented the last week of October through the first week in November, "Hotel Paradiso" by Georges Feudeau was the first production of the 1969-1970 University Theatre schedule. The play is a French "bedroom farce," pitting two husbands and two wives against each other, later involving others of their households, winding up with everyone tearing at each others' throats. The UT added atmosphere to the play by including French-speaking ushers, dressed in period costumes. Acting was generally very good.

Studio Stage

Studio Stage and Socio-Dramatic Workshop planned a very active season with a combination of original and one-act plays. The first performance included: "The Family Together" by Bob Herrig, "Night Song, Day Dream" by Stephen Rausch, and "Riders to the Sea" by Synge. The first two deal with conflicts in modern society and were directed by the authors, the latter is a more traditional piece and was directed by Janet Greek. Second term, student director Keith Kadow presented an adaptation of "Winnie the Pooh" and Barb Sassman directed "The Ladder." Both plays fall under the category of children's theatre. On January 17, UT presented a Musical Review on contemporary show music with dancing, singing, and blackouts. Later in the term, Studio Stage presented an evening of the works of Frederico Garcia Lorca's works, originally translated by Stephen Rausch. As a communication of the black man's feelings, Gail Willingham's two plays, "The Dream" and "From the Ghetto" were a success. "The Hitchhiker," an original play by Steve Weiford was presented on April 26. The final studio stage production was "Ralf Roister Doister," the first English comedy.

Everything In The Garden

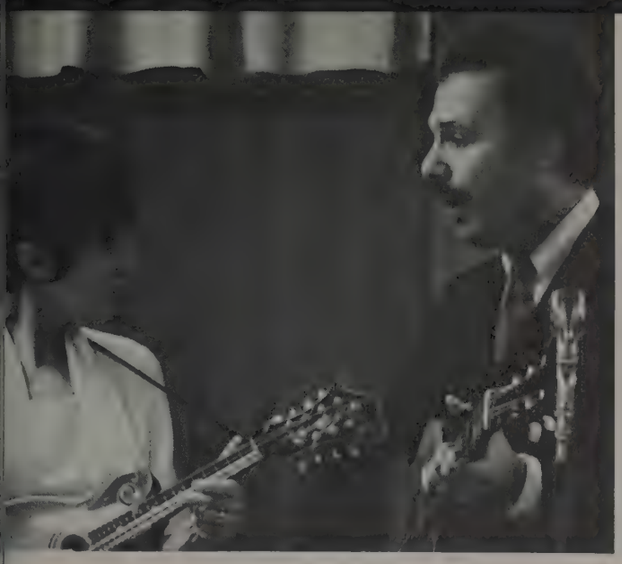
A Torch article announced Edward Albee's, "Everything in the Garden" in the llowing way: "Placid Wittenberg students have yet one more chance to review their ane and illusion-filled middle class lives." In the play, a man and a woman become ught up in the money-success syndrome. The fear engendered causes alienation, first om each other, then from their son, and finally leads to the murder of a close friend. here is constant reference to the garden—the symbol of superficiality contrasted to hat grows underneath. The flu bug hit several members of the cast so that opening ght was set back.

America Hurrah

April 7-11, UT presented "America Hurrah" which was designed by Steve Rausch. It was done in three parts: "TV," "Interview" and "Motel," and is a portrait of American life as a horror story of the plastic age. Director Bob Herrig stated that if the play were a success, it would drive the audience away wanting to vomit and never wanting to enter the theater again.

Paul Beck was chosen as the lead in the last major production of the season, "That Scoundrel Scapin" by Moliere. This classical farce required much improvisation, ingenuity and versatility from the players.

That Scoundrel Scapin



Music, Music, Music

A great deal of musical entertainment was brought to Wittenberg this year. Penny and Joe Aronson presented folk songs and the history of the Jewish people through music. "Sally and Martin" came to Witt in November from Canada to provide informal entertainment with folk music. Live entertainment was also presented, periodically, in the Rathskeller which opened in the basement of the Union on January 5. The Rathskeller is backed by the Union Board with a donation of $1,000. Beer, soft drinks, coffee, and soup were served each evening and special programs with such groups as "The Hubbel's" were scheduled.

Wittenberg faculty, wives, and students were represented in the production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado," which was presented by the Springfield Civic Opera. The Springfield Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Robert Gutter, new resident conductor, opened its 26th concert season at Memorial Hall on November 1 with pianist John Browning as soloist. Later in the year, Peter Zaret, Witt music professor performed as the Symphony soloist.

Puccini

This marked the 15th consecutive year of broadcasting on the Protestant Hour radio program for the 75-voice Witt Choir. The choir's twelve programs in the Lutheran Series featured newly recorded selections: appropriate music with a modern beat. The Lutheran Series is carried by 530 radio stations in the United States, Canada, and the Virgin Islands. This year's series featured the hymn "Immortal Invisible" as the program theme. Much of the music is written, arranged and directed by the choir members themselves and such instrumentation as drums, guitars, piano, and bells are used. Barb Terry and Steve Nye did much of the composing and arranging. During Spring break the choir flew to California for a concert tour. The Spring show "Get Together" was given on May 1. "Get Together," "Lovin' Sound," "Aquarius," and "Riddle Song" were among the songs in the program.

Giacomo Puccini's one-act comic opera, Gianni Schicchi, was performed by the Wittenberg School of Music during May. The performance took place in the Krieg Hall courtyard. Dr. Orcenith Smith, professor of music sang the lead role.

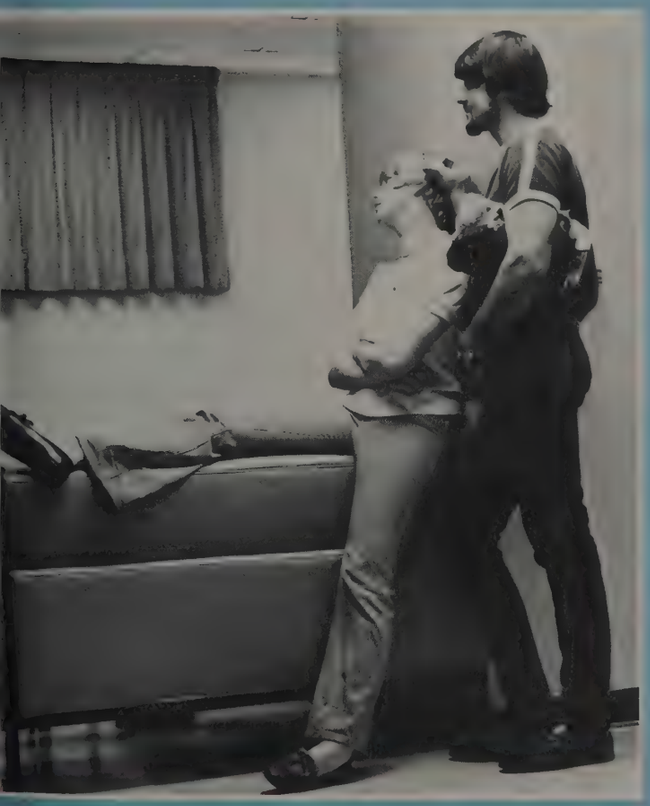
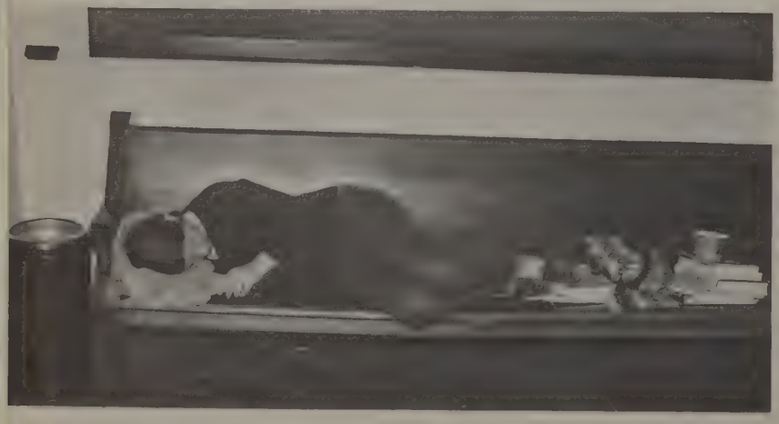
Just Plain People



Early in the year, revised social regulations affecting on and off campus housing, women's hours, and alcoholic beverages were adopted. The committee initiating the changes stated: "In order for social regulations to be educationally relevant they must encourage the development of individual student responsibility and integrity in a community living situation." Changes for women included the abolishing of hours and dorm autonomy in establishing open houses. It was difficult to tell whether there were more students or faculty members present as students met professors outside Bayley to lobby in favor of maintaining rather than decreasing pass-fail options. The issue was tabled until September. Institutional requirements were also under fire. The faculty approved a new policy of requirements which require a total of 12 courses from seven different areas. The program is an interim solution to the problem of requirements. A new community government was also adopted which provides for a college council to consist of 27 faculty members, 22 students, and 4 administrators. To provide a means for more adequate communications on campus, an information center opened on February 23.



Classes and Study Time

Mealtime

The growing number of American students who have studied abroad, and foreign students studying here show interest in other countries outside the United States. From November 11-14 Union Board presented an experience in many types of foreign cultures, the International Fair. Saga planned a smorgasbord for the event. In a special dinner, open to the public, they featured unusual dishes from all over the world. Many eagerly savored the delicacies of the Orient, Scandanavia, Spain and other culinary capitols. A guitarist, dancers, bagpipers, and other groups representing different modern cultures performed during the dinner hour.

Spring term boarders were offered a new program by the Wittenberg Food Service. The modified continuous serving system offered service to boarding students all but two hours during the academic day.

A Time For Caring

Many opportunities were provided to Wittenberg students to show concern for others. Town and Country Day School had Witt volunteers in the classrooms, for swimming lessons, and at monthly parties. Many students served as big brothers and big sisters in the Clark County Children's Home. Volunteers helped with classes, participated in teenage dialogues, and tutored at The Union Settlement House which is directed by a Wittenberg student, George Williams. In December 80 Myers Hall men participated in a food-raising drive which was an attempt to make the Christmas season happier for needy area residents. The Upward Bound follow-up program was also conducted by Wittenberg students.

ITTENBERG

Academics

President G. Kenneth Andeen

Involvement has been a characteristic word on college campuses during the past school year. Wittenberg students have engaged creatively in issues dealing with campus, city, national, and international affairs. A record of these many activities is dramatically portrayed throughout this volume.

It has been a privilege to be associated with students, faculty, and staff who have shown in responsible ways that active participation can bring about desired change without militancy. Wittenberg is dedicated to an educational program that encourages students of divergent backgrounds and interests to seek understanding and wisdom through the study of the liberal arts. Central to the investigation of man and his environment is a commitment that God has revealed himself in human history and has provided insights which make possible the appreciation of man's potential, not only as a creature of earth but as a child of God.

In dedication to the realism and high ideals of the Christian liberal arts, Wittenberg congratulates the graduates of the Class of 1970. With the rich traditions of 125 years and the dynamic enthusiasm and energies of today's youth, we plan enthusiastically for an even greater and more effectual university for the future.

Biology

The Biology Department has been engaged in curriculum revision which will be implemented next year. The major revision will be at the beginning level with two types of courses for non-majors to be added. COSIP (College Science Improvement Program) continued during the year to provide a term free of teaching for four faculty members to pursue research projects and curriculum development. Faculty benefiting this year were Drs. DeLanglade, Hitt, Powelson and Watson. The program has also provided a stipend for three students to engage in research participation during a six week period this summer. The projects will be concerned with studies in animal physiology, plant pathology and tissue culture. In addition, COSIP helped provide funds for a weekend field trip to Land-Between-the-Lakes, Kentucky, for the plant systematics class. Visiting Seminar speakers included Dr. Bernard Davis, Harvard Medical School, Dr. Charles Shaffer, University of Pennsylvania, and Drs. King and Martin of Ohio State Medical School.

Business Administration

Along with three social science departments, the Business Administration Department moved into its new quarters in completely renovated Carnegie Hall. Without a doubt, the facilities are the best the department has enjoyed during its long history at Wittenberg. The staff now have private offices, a comfortable, colorful reading room, and a convenient office machines laboratory.

The faculty approved the reinstatement of the courses required for an Accounting concentration. It is now possible for the student to complete the educational requirements for the CPA examination in the State of Ohio. This concentration in Accounting not only benefits the student planning a professional career in public accounting but also provides the educational background for a career in private and governmental accounting. A "topics" course was also approved. This makes it possible to offer almost any course for which there is a qualified staff member to teach it and there is sufficient demand from students to offer it.

Panayotis F. Pappas, Assistant Professor; A.B., J.D., Ohio State University.

Chemistry

With funds received from the National Science Foundation, the Chemistry Department purchased two infrared spectrophotometers for use in the lower level chemistry courses. Also provided were funds for a system of desk calculators to be installed in Koch Hall. To simplify the use of complicated equipment for the beginning student, cassette tape recorders are now being used for the presentation of operating instructions of the major instruments in the labs.

Concerned with environmental conditions, students in the General Chemistry lab began a program of analysis of water from Buck Creek for various chemical pollutants.

Economics

Twenty-eight economics majors were included in the graduating class of 970. This is the largest number in the history of the department.

Dr. Milton Glick has been awarded a grant to study methods of teaching ndergraduate courses in economics. He will attend a workshop during the mmer of 1970 at Vanderbilt University. Dr. Balwir Singh has been awarded grant to continue his studies of economic development in the Middle East; e will also undertake his investigation during the summer of 1970.

The activities of the department were supplemented by outside speakers who discussed topics ranging from careers in economics to current problems n industrial relations. In addition, several members of the department and majors attended a workshop for undergraduates in economics from the colleges f Ohio at Wooster College.

Balwir Singh, Associate Professor; A.B., M.A., Punjab University, India; Ph.D., American University.

Educatio

One of the most crucial efforts of the Department of Educatio during this past year was the restructuring of the department member into a cohesive, open-minded task force willing to look at itself an to explore new avenues of teaching and learning.

More and more of the courses offered by the department are to b integrated with the actual classroom situation. We have worked ver hard at becoming meaningfully involved in the programs of the loca school districts, not just as an appendage to our program, but as a integral part of our academic/field approach to teaching. This i attested to by our establishment of tutorial and remedial program within the public schools; the enlargement of our student-teachin program in Mexico, Europe, and Africa; and the observation-visitatio tutorial experiences in the Upward Bound Program.

English

The English Department moved its main office to a new building on Pythian Avenue this year and established, as well, a lounge which contains graduate publications and other books of interest to the majors. As a result of careful advising on the part of Dr. Otten, the new Department Graduate Advisor, eight senior majors have received a total of fifteen offers of financial aid for graduate study and five others have been admitted to graduate school programs.

English as a foreign language was offered for the first time for our many students from overseas. Mr. Damaser received one of ten Danforth grants awarded this year to study Black Literature at Yale, and Mr. Wills is on leave to complete work toward his Ph.D. in Theatre at Case Western Reserve. Ten department members have published fifteen articles, three have read papers at conferences, and two have read their poetry at other colleges as well as here. Professors Call and Miller were in Europe last summer in conjunction with their one-term sabbatical programs.

Geography

In September 1969, the Geography Department moved into new, enlarged quarters in recently renovated Carnegie Hall, providing the department with badly needed space for developing a strong academic program. With the added space and an additional staff member, we are able to serve many more students and provide for a larger number of geography majors. Geography classes have been particularly active this year in environmental studies, working on particular environmental problems in Springfield.

Geology

During 1969-70 the Department of Geology graduated its largest and one of its finest groups of majors. Five of the ten seniors have earned graduate awards for advanced study.

Mr. Frank Luther joined the staff this year as a part of the department's participation in the National Science Foundation COSIP program. Mr. Luther's appointment allows released time for research and course revision for the other members of the geology staff. Also under this program the department has added a Research Model Petrographic Microscope and additions to our library collections.

Department discussions and planning this year resulted in the introduction of a new course for non-majors, Geology 100—Introduction to the Geological Sciences. A new major in Earth Science for Secondary Teaching was also developed with the Education Department.

Students and faculty participated in field trips during the year which took them to the Appalachian Mountains in Virginia, West Virginia, and Tennessee; the mining district of Ducktown, Tennessee; and numerous localities around Ohio.

Health and Physical Education

Chairman: Howard E. Maurer, Professor; A.B., Wittenberg; M.A., Columbia University; Ph.D., Ohio State University.

The Health and Physical Education program has the responsibility of preparing our students to teach and coach. The curriculum aims to permit certification in Ohio and other states.

Another important assignment is the service course experience which aims to meet the need for vigorous activity now and the less demanding participation which will be more important in later years. All students are required to enroll four terms.

The intramural program is basically designed to provide opportunity to compete in a dozen different sports for those men and women who are not skilled enough to take part in the intercollegiate program. Faculty members also enjoy this participation.

In addition this department plans for student and staff swims and recreation periods. When the intercollegiate athletic practices and schedules are added to the demands made by the professional preparation program, the service course schedules, the intramural participation and special events of all kinds, it is very easy to see why the staff and facilities of the Health and Physical Education Department are extremely involved.

History

The Black History course, taught by Charles King, has been very popular, and will be given twice in the 1970-71 year. In the planning stage is a non-credit seminar on racism in history. Professor Hartje's Man and War course has proved very successful, as part of the Understanding History course, which features a topical approach as an introduction to the field. Professor Behrman has taught a similar course on Man and Freedom, and Professor O'Connor on Approaches to the Russian Revolution.

The History Department has two books coming out: one is by Charles Chatfield on the American peace movement in the twentieth century, and one by Albert Hayden on assistance to immigration to Australia in the nineteenth century.

Dr. O'Brien is still on leave, serving as Dean of the European American Study Center, Basle, Switzerland.

Fine Arts

This year the Department of Fine and Applied Arts has two new faculty members: Mr. Richard Hagelberger, an art historian-painter and Mr. Elmer Petersen, a sculptor.

Department members participated in numerous exhibitions and served various organizations with demonstrations and lectures, and as exhibition jurors. The faculty will be spending the summer in furthering their individual fields of interest within the Fine Arts. Their diversity will find them studying in Japan and painting in Mexico.

This year the Fine Arts majors again held a successful sales/exhibition during Parents' Weekend. The end of this academic year will mark a new first for the graduating seniors. Their annual senior graduation exhibition will be on display at the galleries of the Springfield Art Association. Their interest in Wittenberg is strongly appreciated.

Library

For the first time library book circulation exceeded 100,000 volumes, an increase of 20% over last year. The Acquisitions Department ordered 11,332 books and received about 2,000 additional volumes as gifts. The Catalog Department added many new books to the library collection which now numbers almost 200,000 volumes. The Audio-visual Department filled 775 requests for equipment, circulated over 14,000 phonograph records and borrowed 97 films for the University. The Serials Department regularly checked in 1,583 periodicals and 34 newspapers. More than 1,500 government documents and 140 titles on micro-film were processed and more than 2,500 volumes were prepared for binding. Gifts and grants totaling $27,174 were added to the $75,000 budget.

Mathematics

In the absence of Mr. Robert Baer, the Mathematics Department was fortunate in having Dr. Paul J. Hessler, Jr. who will remain next year while Dr. Eric Wilson takes sabbatical leave.

By way of innovation, four sections of Calculus I and II were taught by Professor Hahn, who used special materials for making use of the computer in illuminating some of the concepts of calculus.

Philosophy

Of special interest to the campus was the visit to Wittenberg of Professor Henry Aiken of Brandeis University, in January. Both lectures were well attended and his topics were of interest to students and faculty. Of special interest was the general lecture "Can the University be De-politicized?" in which he stressed the basic political nature of the university.

Professor Levy was honored by the granting of his Ph.D. from Duke University in May. He also read a paper to the Ohio Philosophical Association which met at Akron University in March.

Professor Klive has had a recent pamphlet he has published translated into Teligu, one of the languages of India.

Offerings in the department have been expanded because of the broadening of institutional requirements. Students may now elect any course in the department except the courses in logic to fulfill the requirement for "man's cultural heritage."

Physics

During the past year the department has had one staff change. Dr. Robert Beyer, formerly of Purdue University, joined our staff on January 1 replacing Dr. Flinner who left last year to join the faculty of Mankato State University.

The major advances for this year have been related to the development of a laboratory centered around a 400 kilovolt charged particle accelerator. The accelerator itself has been purchased with funds provided by the University and the National Science Foundation. Additional auxiliary equipment, including a 1024 channel pulse height analyzer and a scattering chamber, has been purchased and numerous items have been obtained as surplus through government and other agencies. The accelerator laboratory should be in operation by the end of the summer. This laboratory will be used both for instructional purposes and for student and faculty research.

airman: Joe H. Bindley, Professor; A.B., College of Political Science

This academic year, the Department of Political Science attempted several new innovations in its teaching. In the area of American National Government, for example, Drs. Mao and Bindley began a team-taught course which combined lectures and lab experiences with a United States Congressman as a regular guest. In the areas of political philosophy and comparative governments, Dr. Buscemi planned the beginning of his American Political Ideology, while Professor Flickinger spent a week as the guest of the State Department in Washington at a foreign relations conference.

The department experienced significant growth to an all-time high in both class enrollments and declared majors. Thirty seniors planned study after graduation, twenty-five of whom will enter law schools across the country. Other career opportunities included the Foreign Service and City Management training.

Highlights of the year included the special initiation of students into Pi Sigma Alpha (the Political Science Honor Society) by Dr. Laatsch, and the party honoring senior majors.

Psychology

The Psychology Department introduced a point-accumulation grading system in two of its courses: Basic Psychology and Statistics. The amount of work done satisfactorily on projects, quizzes, experiments and workbook assignments determines the course grade. Indications are that this method has resulted in high student motivation and a high quality of work performed.

Department meetings were opened to psychology majors. Majors have participated in the same way as staff members to plan new courses and improve courses now being given. Most majors also have been involved in the Basic Psychology course under the theory that the best way to learn is to teach. In this way, staff members and advanced majors have combined their efforts to teach the basic psychology course.

Religion

In past years the Religion Department has been a "service department," supplying all students with two institutional requirements. Recently the Department has taken the initiative to reduce institutional requirements in religion and to broaden its offerings in both variety and depth to attract more students into its courses as electives and as majors. Open houses at the Departmental Offices in Reci and regular meetings of the colloquium were instituted to open up relationships between students and faculty. Ultimately the goal of the department is to provide occasions by which students and faculty may together probe the various ways in which religion has sought to provide meaning to existence in an apparently meaningless—or at least confused—world.

Sociology

The Sociology Department guides students to an understanding of man's behavior and culture in the context of a changing world and in preparation for graduate study, social work, teaching, and facing the social problems of today as responsible citizens. A number of students in the department have worked in areas as diverse as the development of computer programs for use in problem analysis and the study of the Women's Liberation Movement.

The department has enjoyed the new offices and classrooms in Carnegie Hall this year. Courses relevant for American Studies and for East Asian Studies have been offered. Dr. Boling participated in the Japan Summer Seminar as advisor to the group in Japan. Mr. Peterson is a member of the Children's Services Board of Clark County and Dr. Bindman has continued his advising of the Upward Bound program.

Hamma School of Theology

Hamma School of Theology has completed two years in a radically altered curriculum and a new degree program, that of the Master of Divinity, has been added. Through four years and 16 terms, including summers, Hamma students alternate between periods of seminar instructions and fulltime field education in a variety of settings. The Hamma Community realizes itself in small groups, in Convocations and happenings for the whole community, and to many of the numerous national and international needs. The past year has also seen important developments in a five-seminary cluster for the Dayton area which will greatly enhance the educational opportunities of Hamma students within an ecumenical setting. School of Music

The year has been one of the most provocative and intellectually stimulating periods in recent Music School history. Changes have been made reflecting faculty and student discussions concerning curriculum, requirements for various degree programs, course structure and content, concert and performance opportunities, the employment of new methods of teaching and the utilization of new audiovisual equipment.

A new, $22,000 Kney pipe organ was installed in April in the Music School to be used for private instruction and for classes in organ playing and service playing.

Many concerts were presented for the academic requirements of music students and for the cultural enrichment of the general student body. A Handbell Choir was organized by Mr. Elmer Blackmer. The English Handbells were the gift of Dr. and Mrs. George Dudycha. The Wittenberg Choir made a successful tour of California during the spring vacation.

Football

The Tigers opened their 15th straight winning campaign under the direction of new Head Coach Dave Maurer by defeating the Crusaders of Capital University 20-18 in Columbus. Johnny Beckett scored two touchdowns on aerials from Rocky Alt. The first record of the year was broken by Reed Vordenberg who averaged 46.7 yards on nine punts.

Witt's first home game, in celebration of the 100th anniversary of college football, brought another Tiger victory over the Engineers of Lehigh University. Rocky Alt came through with three touchdown passes in the first quarter as the Tigers scored 21 points to Lehigh's 13 points.

The Tigers went to a ground game led by Jim Justice in their 24-7 win over the previously undefeated Grove City Wolverines. Justice picked up 136 yards in 26 carries, and in doing so surpassed the 1,000 mark in his career rushing yardage and broke the 100 yard barrier for the third time in his career.

In a fourth quarter comeback the Tigers achieved a 16-12 Homecoming victory over B-W. Ray Ward took two passes over the Yellow-Jacket goal line for 12 points. A PAT and safety rounded out Witt's final score. Two more records were broken as the Tigers 0 yards rushing broke the previous record low of 2 yards against Heidelberg in 1963. Vordenberg also set an OC record with 520 yards in 13 punts.

The Tigers clinched their 6th OC championship in 9 years as they edged past the Wooster Scots 14-14. Punter Reed Vordenberg upped his yardage for the year to 1,878 yards breaking the old record of 1,830 yards set by Roy Allen in 1962.

On the snowy Ashland field, the Tigers defeated the Eagles 33-16 to earn the right to be the host team in the Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl. The bowl game will decide the western champion of the NCAA's College Division Two among small college teams in a 36 state area.

The team ended the regular season play as they shut out Wagner College 56-0 before a large Dad's Day crowd.

The Tigers' determined effort produced a 27-21 victory over William Jewel College of Liberty, Missouri to end the 1969 season with an impressive NCAA Stagg Bowl Championship. By going undefeated in 10 games, the 1969 team set the best record in the sport's 78-year history at Wittenberg. Bob Miller who took over for the injured Rocky Alt engineered three Tiger touchdowns in his final game of his college career. Wittenberg amassed 542 total offensive yards as they showed the great team effort which pulled them through their 1969 season.

Cross Country

Wittenberg's 1969 cross-country team finished the season with a winning record of 5-2 under Coach Eldon Miller. The team was led by MVP John Zerkle who placed 1st in 5 out of 7 meets and 2nd in the remaining 2 meets. In the Ohio Conference Championships Zerkle placed 8th while Burns placed 35th, Johns 39th, Sikora 49th, and Tompkins 51st for the Tigers. With Wayne Tompkins the only graduating member of the team, the Tigers look forward to another winning season next year.

Several records were set this year by the greatly improved team. The most goals during one season was upped to 29. Roy Larson scored three goals in the game against Wilberforce and the record of most points for a season was set at eight by Bob Reitz. Dave Kotary also had four assists for a season high.

For the '69 season, Rod Iberri was named the Most Valuable Player, Tom McGinnis, the Most Improved Player, Tom Hildebrandt, the Best Defensive Player, and Rod Iberri, the Best Offensive Player.

Basketball

The Wittenberg basketball team upheld the winning tradition of the Tigers as they were led by Coach Eldon Miller to a 20-6 season record which was the best record since the 1962-1963 season. The season also included a 16-game winning streak for fourth best in WU history. The Tigers started the season with a 86-63 win over the Oilers of Findlay College but then fell to both Capital and Wooster. The Tigers then bounced back with victories over Kenyon and Earlham. The trip to the East coast was disappointing as WU dropped two close games to Hofstra and Long Island.

Senior Tyrone Curry returned to the starting line-up in January after recovering from a leg injury. The Tigers also came close to beating Bowling Green, but a last basket by Jim Thrasher was disallowed leaving the score 68-67. The Tigers then started their winning streak against Baldwin-Wallace. The team went the rest of the season undefeated ending with an 11-2 record in the Ohio Conference regular season play. During the one non-conference game against Eastern Michigan, the Tigers broke the century mark. John Gaston entered the line-up to replace injured Joe Hamilton and scored 13 points. Larry Baker set a new field house record of 40 points and Jim Rose scored a final basket to make the score 101-80. In the West Liberty game, Baker again set a record scoring 48 points.

The Tigers started off the Ohio Conference Tournament play well by defeating Ohio Wesleyan 82-64. They then went on to beat Denison and Capital, but their winning streak was ended when they were defeated by Oberlin 65-58 in the OC Tournament Final.

The team was led by sophomore John Fox who scored 65.50 points including ten first places. Bill Powelson and Al Ryon added to the team's strength scoring 50.75 and 35.50 respectively. With the experience gained this year, Coach Carl Berg looks forward to a winning season next year.

The team ended the season with a 12-9 over-all record and a 7-5 record during conference play. Most Valuable Player, Rocky Alt, took honors for his pitching, including All-Conference First Team, OC Leader in Wins and All-District Honorable Mention. Strength in the field and at the plate completed the formula for the winning season.

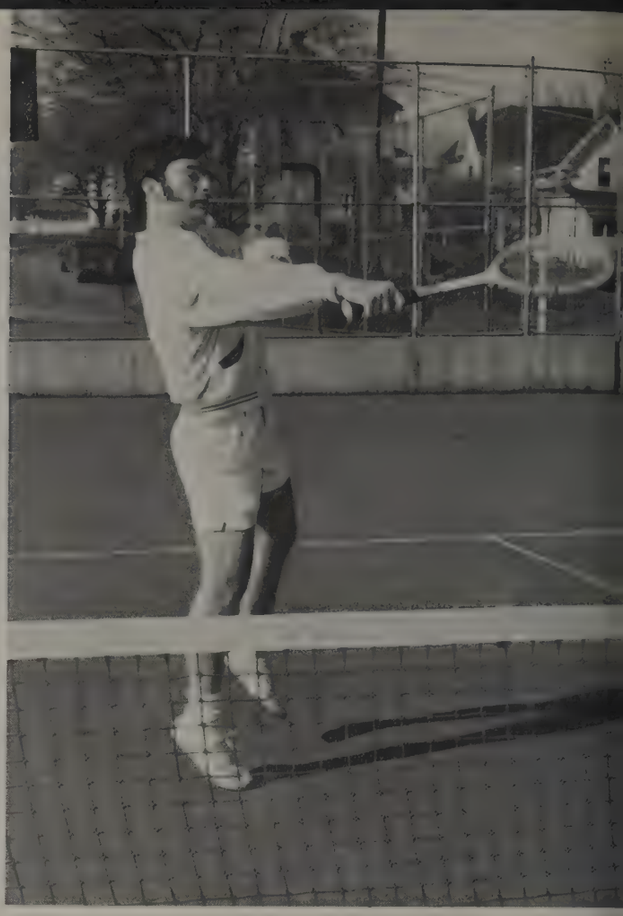
The 1970 Wittenberg wrestling team under Coach Gary Tranquill took first place in the Ohio Conference with a 9-5 season record. Senior Jeff Connelly won the OC Championship in his class and represented Wittenberg in the NCAA. Senior Mike Caruso also won the OC championship in his class as did sophomore Steve Achilles. Larry Stoddard received runner-up and Tim DeRosa received 4th place in the OC. Although the team will lose some valuable senior members, Witt can look forward to another winning season with the team's younger members.



Tennis

The 1970 Wittenberg tennis team had its 14th consecutive winning season. Mike Senich and Gary Lea both won the championship in their matches. Senich was the 6th Wittenberg player to win first singles in the last eight years and the first sophomore to win since the 1958 season. In the Ohio Conference Meet the Tigers tied with Denison for third place with 19 points. With all the team members returning next year, they can look forward to another winning season.

Women's Sports

Often little is known or heard about women's sports at Wittenberg, yet the teams have done well. The women's hockey team with a 4-3 season played in the Miami Valley Field Hockey Tournament. The tennis team played in the Ohio Collegiate Tennis Tournament and the volleyball team competed in the state intercollegiate tournament at Wooster. The team, which went undefeated for three seasons, was 6-2 this campaign with victories over Cedarville, Ohio Wesleyan twice, Muskingum, Columbus Club and Ohio U. twice, losing only to Miami and Bowling Green. Other women's sports include softball, golf and basketball, and newly added this year are swimming and lacrosse.

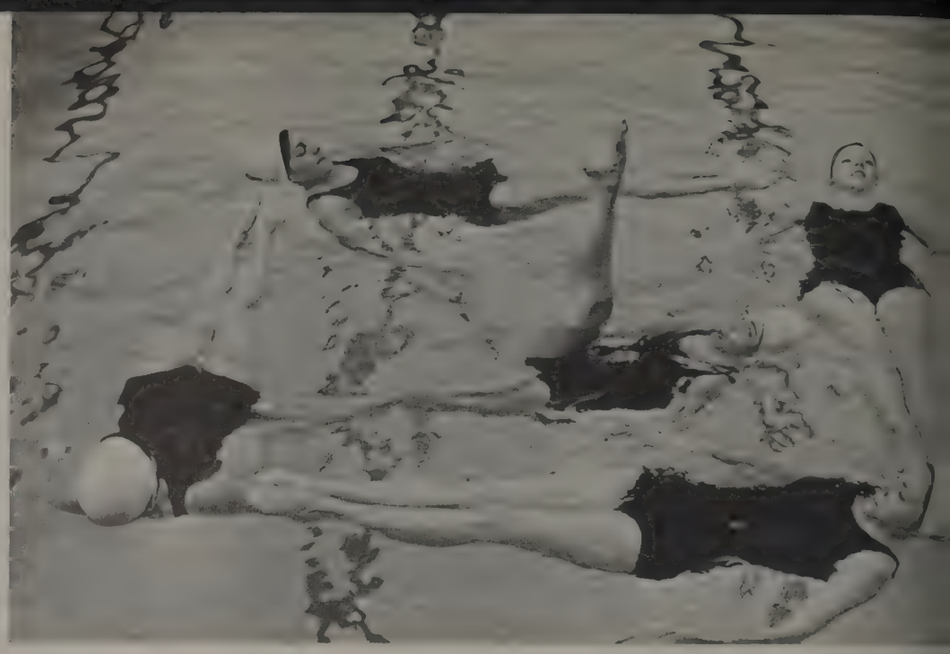
Spray Misses

The Spray Misses, Wittenberg's synchronized swimming club, presented their 17th annual water show entitled "Splash Design." Under the sponsorship of Miss Pat Williams and the direction of Joyce Templer, show chairman and president, the Spray Misses practiced between fifty and sixty hours in the water as well as having many rehearsals on land. This year multimedia presentations were featured between the show's twelve numbers which illustrated various forms of art.



Women's Swim Team

Although Wittenberg's first official women's intercollegiate swim team did not have a winning season, much improvement was seen in the swimmers. With the experience gained in this year's dual meet, triangular meet and twelve-team intercollegiate meet, the team can look forward to a fine season next year.

Alpha Delta Pi

The Alpha Delta Pi's first event, fall rush, brought us four new pledges, and during winter rush we took twenty-two new Pi's. There was the fall pledge dance, a "come as your secret ambition" party, and the winter pledge dance with a "hippy" theme. In January our traditional Winter Formal was held at Scot's Inn. The day at Coney Island in Cincinnati was the highlight of spring term.

The activities within the chapter were numerous, too. First was Homecoming and working on our display "Get Thee Bee-hind Me, Satan" and then the chapter dinners and annual Christmas party. Spring brought activation, Parent's Weekend and the Senior Banquet.

Not neglecting service, we adopted an orphan in Korea, sold Christmas bows for Town and Country, went caroling at Mercy Crest and in the spring we held the annual picnic for underprivileged children with the Fiji's. Erica Gardner, an exchange student from Italy, brought us another "sister" as she lived in our house. 1969-70 was a very active and fun year for Chi chapter of Alpha Delta Pi.

Alpha Xi Delta

Instead of making a Homecoming display this year, the Alpha Xi's decided to give one hundred dollars to United Appeals. In the fall, nine new sisters were added to the chapter, and the winter pledge class included twenty-five enthusiastic Fuzzies. For our philanthropy project, Alpha Xi Delta adopted eight little sisters from the Clark County Home. We had a sledding party for them and took them to a movie. While some of the sisters were in Mexico doing their student teaching, others were busy on the campus acting in plays, singing in the choirs, and being in other organizations. When spring term rolled around, many Alpha Xi's were tapped for honoraries, and a great honor came to our chapter when one of our sisters was chosen for Alma Mater.

Chi Omega

Chi O's had a very exciting and rewarding 1969-70 year. Sisters engaged in many campus organizations and honoraries. Many sisters received special recognition, including candidates for Homecoming Queen and Alma Mater. Chi O's also proudly initiated five fall pledges and twenty-two winter pledges. During the year, certain sisters studied in Mexico, France and England. Social activities included a Pinmate Dinner and the Winter and Spring formals. Chi O's served the community by sponsoring an orphan Christmas party with the ATO's, helping at Springfield's Union Settlement House, and offering aid for a five-year old Navajo Indian girl's clothing and school supplies.

Delta Gamma

Fall found Delta Gamma involved in a number of activities. The mighty DG jocks battled the Gamma Phi's to a 0-0 tie in an exciting football game. Homecoming followed with a Delta Gamma crowned as Homecoming Queen, and helped by the Fiji's, we constructed a huge display. Bundling up on a rainy Sunday, we joined the other Greeks and canvassed Springfield for CROP donations. Our three fall pledges sponsored a mafia party to end fall term on a swinging note. Winter found twenty-three new pledges officially welcomed at our Anchor cotillion. Taking a break from a long term of study, collegiates and alums celebrated our annual Founder's Day.

The Phi Psi house was the scene of a Roman Banquet as robed DG's and Phi Psi's ate dinner Roman style. With the beautiful spring weather co-operating our Hannahs saw the DG-Beta team sweep first place in Greek Week Queen. Washing cars raised money to sponsor two blind Springfield youths and throughout the year many sisters tutored children at the Union Settlement House. Our spring informal was followed by an informal party with the Fiji's before finals to round out a great year for Delta Gamma.

Delta Zeta

In the fall, Delta Zeta extended its bonds of friendship to Norway as we welcomed Elisabeth Omdal, an exchange student, into our sisterhood. During fall term, we held a pledge dance and barbeque in Snyder Park. Delta Zeta's were also busy first term selling stationery for our philanthropies project, making our Homecoming display and planning our annual Homecoming tea. As December approached, Delta Zeta hostessed a tea for faculty wives and enjoyed the annual chapter Christmas party with one of our houseboys as Santa Claus. DZ placed second academically among the sororities that term. Winter term brought us a fantastic pledge class and to honor them we held a semi-formal with a gypsy caravan theme. In the spring came the traditional favorite professor dinner and steak and beans scholarship dinner, along with the awards banquet on Parents' Weekend. Also that spring, DZ was honored to have a sister, Nancy Music, chosen Panhellenic president, tapped for Mortar Board and picked as an Alma Mater candidate. Delta Zeta ended the year with a swim party where Michael Sutcliff was named "DZ Man of the Year."

Gamma Phi Beta

During the year, several members of the Wittenberg community have suggested that the Greek groups are irrelevant in today's world. We feel, however, that the potential within each group to deal with pertinent questions is worth salvaging. In this light, the Gamma Phi's have taken a serious look at themselves. Some have decided that they can better relate to the problems of the world by standing outside the group; others have remained Gamma Phi's in hopes of making Greek life more relevant. As individuals, we are working through various groups and committees; as sisters we share the spirit of the song we sang for Parents' Weekend—"Save the Country."

Kappa Delta

The year progressed quickly for Alpha Nu of Kappa Delta. Syncopates had a successful season with Barbie Baird as president and Cheryl Snyder as secretary, and we were especially proud when Barbie was chosen as Centennial Queen. For the Homecoming display, the Alpha Nu's worked together on "The Dawning of the Age of Maurer," and just prior to Christmas we held our annual party with the Lambda Chi's for the underprivileged children.

Winter rush brought twenty-five new pledges; the four pledges of fall rush were initiated soon thereafter. The annual winter formal was held in Dayton, and spring term offered a similar happening. The Greek Sing during Parent's Weekend saw each of us sing her "Happy Heart" out. We were honored with candidates for Greek Week Queen and Oak and Ivy Orator. The Alpha Nu's had a successful year, but that's not unusual!

Sigma Kappa

For the Sigma K's, the 1969-70 year proved to be one of the busiest yet. Fall term started with a fun-filled casino party and pledge dance following pledging. After taking part in the Homecoming festivities our chapter invited all faculty members to the house for a tea and get-together. We concluded the term with a chapter Christmas party.

The remainder of the year we had a winter and spring formal, a fire-up party at Fog's, our first annually sponsored Greek bridge tournament, a splash party, our spring honors banquet at Ker Deen Inn, a tea for all the sorority pledge classes, and our Greek Week parents' banquet. Not only did we have many social events but the girls spent time helping the patients at Ridgewood Nursing Home and participated in practically every campus group and many honoraries. Winter term we were quite honored by coming in first in scholarship. The year was high-lighted with the sending of three delegates to the bi-annual national Sigma Kappa convention in Sarasota, Florida.

Alpha Tau Omega

After a slow fall term, things began to roll at Alpha Psi with the election of new officers. The annual Christmas party for the orphans was once again a success as was our participation in the Heart Fund Drive, the financing of a trip to the Shrine Circus for the underprivileged children, and the first annual ATO can and bottle pick-up on January 11th.

In sports we found twenty-nine members participating in six sports with an ATO winning the Golden Helmet Award, the fifth Tau in the six times the award has been presented. The Tau's also enjoyed its highest academic achievement during the 69-70 year.

Spring found the Tau's pledging thirteen men on the deferred pledge program and enjoying the usual parties in the park, the house and various other locations.

Beta Theta Pi

Looking back on the 1969-70, Alpha Gamma chapter of Beta Theta Pi had many proud memories. In our 102nd year at Wittenberg, we initiated twenty-three new brothers into our chapter roles. The Beta's won the Homecoming display trophy for the fifth time in the last six years. We also won the scholarship trophy having a house average of over 3.0. In the Greek Week games, the Beta's, teaming with the D.G.'s, won first place.

In athletics, eighteen brothers participated in varsity sports. Also, the Beta's finished second in the final standings in intramural sports.

Highlighting our social calendar were our pledge dances, the Shipwreck Party, the annual Honeymoon Party, and the Beta Spring Weekend.

Kicking off the year with an all-campus dance and then a banquet for Wittenberg's new president, G. Kenneth Andeen, and his family, the Delta Sig's next turned their attention to more traditional fall activities. This year, part of their Homecoming budget went to construct an award-winning display, "Red Kills 'Em Dead," and the rest went to the Clark County United Appeals Fund. Winter term Rush marked the Delta Sig's third consecutive year of solid growth, as an enthusiastic pledge class treated the actives to a night in "The Old West" and then the actives reciprocated with their traditional South Seas Sailors' Ball. The chapter also attempted to support the campus theatre by organizing parties which included attendance at both of its major winter productions. Moving into spring, the motorcycle bug hit the house, and having Dr. Hopping as a brother proved occasionally fortunate. While even the most avid cycle addicts took cars for the formal, which was held at the Christopher Inn in Columbus, many bikes showed up at the picnic the following Sunday. As the year drew to a close, the Sig's made plans for summer get-togethers and, of course, the year to come.

Lambda Chi Alpha

1969-70 was a very successful year for Lambda Chi Alpha. The initiation of twenty-five brothers during the year brought membership to seventy. Highlights of the year included our Crescent Queen, Joyce Templer, DG, being chosen Homecoming Queen. Our spring formal at Derr Road Inn followed by the second annual canoe trip contributed to a fantastic weekend.

Public relations events included our annual Freshman Women's Tea and a spaghetti dinner which netted over $100 for charity. Lambda Chi helped WCSF by sponsoring a car wash with the Gamma Phi's, and a Christmas party for underprivileged children was held with the KD's.

On campus Lambda Chi was represented in numerous honoraries and organizations as well as varsity sports and intermurals. Brother Peterman was chosen president of IFC. The year was brought to a close by our sponsoring an all campus dance at the house.

Pi Kappa Alpha

As usual, the Pikes had another good year, and again the emphasis was on social events. We had two full weekend formals, three pledges dances, and many house parties.

In addition to this full schedule, Gamma Zeta chapter also found time to start a new project—an all-Greek calendar to be sold during Freshman Week.

Greeks

Greek Week

The picnic in Cliff Park marked the beginning of the weeknd festivities of Greek Week. The Greek Skits, "Isn't It a Riot," followed on the Cliff Park Stage with ten minutes alloted for each skit. At eight o'clock the Greek King and Queen were announced. On Saturday the Greek Week Games were held in Cliff Park. The Beta's, teaming up with the D.G.'s won first place. To close the weekend The Classics IV Concert was held that evening in the Fieldhouse.

Under President Mark Peterman the Interfraternity Council oversaw the usual Greek machinery of rushing and pledging, making many revisions from the traditional formal rush. To keep in tune with the Kent State-Cambodia crisis the Council helped turn the annual Interfraternity-sorority sing into a "Festival of Life Celebration," with the sororities, fraternities, Concerned Black Students and the Wittenberg Choir participating. IFC also held the annual CROP Drive and brought the Classics IV to Wittenberg for the Greek Week Concert.

In addition to an "underground" newsletter, Fabric, published by the Academic Affairs Committee, the Student Senate again sponsored the used book sales. Notable activities for 1969-1970 included the Wittenberg "T" Party at which approximately 150 telegrams were sent to senators in reference to the tax reform bill which would have hurt contributions to charitable organizations, a group in which Wittenberg is included. Also, the Senate sponsored the October and November Moratoriums—discussions of our involvement in Vietnam with a parallel Teach-In on Cambodia for students on May 6, 1970. The Senate initiated a committee to study the adviser system which was then formed out of the Dean of Students' office besides sending a resolution to the faculty that institutional requirements be reformed to institutional guidelines to allow students more flexibility.

Student Court

The Student Court works as a student committee serving in an advisory capacity to administrators and faculty members. It reviews and examines all cases in which students have allegedly broken campus standards.

The Union Board is composed of independently functioning committees: Culture, Recreation, Social, International Affairs, and Technical. Commencing with the September three-day workshop, the members planned activities held at the Union—dances, craft nights, exhibits, guest speakers such as Arthur C. Clarke and Madalyn Murray O'Hair, and movies, including The Odd Couple. Besides responsible for Homecoming and W-Day, the Union Board created another affair with this year's Erotic Week. Also, under the Board's direction was the decorating, maintenance and entertainment of the Rathskeller.

A pre-class fall workshop initiated a year of confusion about enforcement of rules, feelings of purpose as well as of uselessness for the resident assistants. They saw the passage of no hours for women, and over one third of the women R. A.'s volunteering for another term.

The Freshman Counselors spent an exhausting, but thoroughly rewarding week with new students just before classes began in the fall.

Women's Recreation Association

The Women's Recreation Association is responsible for the organization and direction of the campus intramurals: Volleyball, table tennis, basketball, badminton, bowling, swimming, tennis and softball, and also they sponsor the fall, winter and spring inter-collegiate sports for women. In addition, they plan the activities of the co-ed ski club and the Spray Misses.

Shifters (top)

They wear paper clips, whistle, and hold their thumbs up—they are Shifters! For almost fifty years, the function, purpose, and whereabouts of this organization have been communicated only among its members. Sophomores and juniors are tapped for membership each fall and spring probably at the same time and at the same place.

Boost-W (bottom)

Boost-W, through the loyal spirit of its members, fosters a uniting and forceful dedication to the promotion of sportsmanship and enthusiasm.

Wittenberg's branch of the Newman Club tasted many diverse activities throughout the year. Under the direction of Father Mark C. Schmieder of St. Raphael's parish, the group sponsored two all-campus movies, several guest speakers on the meaning of religion today, and a weekend retreat at Hueston Woods. Several outdoor services at the park highlighted the year's religious celebrations.

Christian Science College Organization

"A Christian Science Organization is students who value Christian Science and realize its vast potential for contributing to their happiness and success in college, and the general well-being of their fellow students and the world." At Wittenberg an open, informal meeting takes place each week consisting of short pertinent readings from the Bible and Science and Health, followed by testimonies of healing, discussion, sharing and practical application of Christian Science to the campus's mental atmosphere. Beginning this spring, Christian Science lectures are sponsored annually.

Weaver Chapel Association

The Weaver Chapel Association is anyone who worships at Weaver and takes an active concern in its function. The council, consisting of three members from each class, acts as the governing body. This year the association helped sponsor an underprivileged student at Findlay College, in addition to supporting a Draft Information Center. The members had a part in the selection of the new Pastor to the University. They scheduled the chapel guest speakers, including an ex-priest and they often incorporated contemporary modes of worship into the daily chapel services.

Debate Team

This year's debate topic, Resolved: that the federal government should grant annually a specific percentage of its income tax revenue to the state governments, was a good one for the Wittenberg debaters as they were again among the top teams in the tri-state area. Their many strong finishes were capped by a first place finish at the Manchester, Indiana tournament. In leading the team, Greg Weiss was named among the outstanding individual debaters at several tournaments. Highlight of the year was a trip to New Orleans and the National Mardi Gras Invitational. At the end of the season Jon Koppenhoefer was named recipient of the G. Vernon Kelly debate award. The team was again under the direction of Dr. Ernest Dayka.

Cosmopolitan Club

The Cosmopolitan Club is composed of both foreign and American students. Through monthly programs, including Roman Night and African Night, panel discussions, a talent show, and a picnic, members of the club were able to share experiences, knowledge and fun. Many friendships were formed, and insight was gained into the different types of people and their varied ways of living.

Collegium Musicum

Accompanied by recorders, lutes, and at Christmastime, harps, the Collegium Musicum provides entertainment for themselves and their audiences by means of the revival of Renaissance madrigals. Complete with appropriate and ornate costumes, Collegium members sing at an annual campus concert as well as perform at surrounding churches. Under the direction of Dr. Walters, the group is noted for its spontaneity, spirit of cooperation and its sense of unity.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia

As an institutional chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, Alpha Tau directs its activities toward the advancement of music in America, the fostering of mutual welfare and brotherhood between music students, the development of a true fraternal spirit among its members, and the strengthening of loyalty among them toward their alma mater.

Chapel Choir

The Chapel Choir, under the direction of Dr Frederick Jackisch, provides music for the Sunda services in Weaver Chapel. It offers an opportunit to explore an extensive range of church music in wide variety of forms and styles.

Schola Cantorum

The members of Schola Cantorum present a variety of forms of worship from different cultures and eras in the Christian Church. Their activities are devoted to the celebration of minor church festivals, the preservation of "peregrinus," a twelfth century Easter liturgical drama, and the traditional Ascension Day Solemn Eucharist.

Wittenberg Choir (below)

Under the direction of Dr. Miller, the Wittenberg Choir, again experienced a year of travel and success. During the spring vacation, the choir chartered a plane and flew to Los Angeles for a ten day concert tour of California, returning on Easter Monday from San Francisco. Earlier in the year, a weekend concert tour was made in Indiana and Ohio. The choir performed at the inauguration of President Andeen. Weaver Chapel was filled for the Home Concert on April 5. Another concert of Contemporary Sacred Music was given in Weaver Chapel on Parents Weekend and a Hootenanny was presented to an enthusiastic audience in the Field House on May 1. Recordings for a thirteen week series of radio broadcasts of the Protestant Hour were made June 11 and 12 after exams.

Sigma Alpha Iota

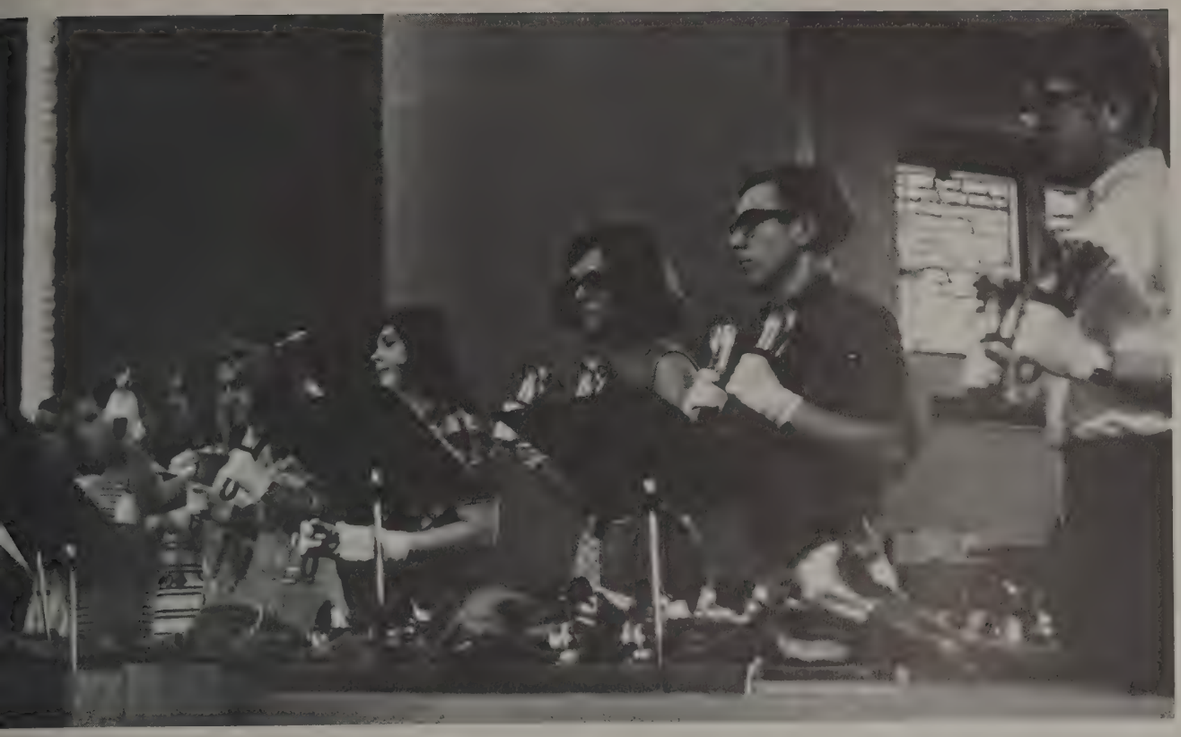
Membership in Wittenberg's Alpha Delta chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music fraternity for women, is conferred upon those who show excellence in scholarship, musical ability, and leadership. The fraternity's purpose is to promote musical activities. This year they sponsored a musicale once each month, organized the Greek sing, and assisted the School of Music in various ways.



Wittenberg Wind Ensemble

The Wind Ensemble presented a full concert each term of the academic year. It also was guest performer at the Northwestern Regional Meeting of the Ohio Music Educators Association in Findlay, Ohio. The ensemble also gave concerts at the Dayton Wilbur Wright High School, and at Tecumseh and Mechanicsburg High Schools. A Brass Choir from the Ensemble played at the Inauguration of President Andeen. The Wind Ensemble also spurred on the crowd and accompanied the Syncopates at home football games.

Handbell Choir

(top)

The Hand Bell Choir will perform annually on festive occasions and will be used for the instruction of church music majors. This year a new set of English Hand Bells, the gift of Professor and Mrs. George Dudycha, were used for the first time at the Inauguration of President Andeen, again at the Advent Vesper service and at other times in Weaver Chapel.

Nice?

N. I. C. E.? Nice? Now interested in college enthusiasm? Sick of Student Apathy? Tired of hearing people put students down? So are the members of NICE. NICE is against student apathy and for school spirit by community projects like picking up debris along Buck Creek and cheering at football games. NICE? wants to get students involved, wants to get them active, wants to get them spirited. Now!

Metrix

Metrix is a group of Wittenberg students dedicated to improving Wittenberg in a positive way. They give credit anonymously, as individuals, to people who do things for the Wittenberg Community and are normally not commended for their service. The members feel that those in the college community can improve the earth by using their already acquired knowledge to work for solutions to our present problems and acquire skills that will be needed to get answers to problems of the future. Metrix feels: "we have to care, we have to commit ourselves, and we cannot let our dedication die." The ideal of Metrix is that it's time for sincere commitment, not only for Wittenberg as a whole, but also for each individual within the community.

Miss M. K. Jones and Mr. K. R. Swanger
Wittenberg University
Springfield
Ohio 45501

Dear Miss Jones and Mr. Swanger,

The members of Metrix commend you for your outstanding leadership and work in the Japanese programs at Wittenberg University this past summer. Both of you gave much of your time to provide the visiting Japanese students and many Wittenberg students with a worthwhile international exchange of ideas, customs, and friendships.

As a result of this fine experience you made possible, both American and Japanese students now treasure a greatly improved opinion of their own and each others' countries. When people can get together and discuss, laugh, criticize, and exchange ideas, the world is closer to peace and honest understanding.

We in Metrix acknowledge with gratitude and praise your part in this positive, international program.

Sincerely,

Metrix

Women's Lib

Women's Liberation is a group of women who meet together to understand themselves better as women and to work to eliminate sex discrimination and role-playing. They try to provide help and counseling to women at Wittenberg and work with the community to create understanding and awareness among women. They have research and materials available for interested people, and have brought a film strip to campus to try and inform the whole campus about specific problems that women face in today's world.

Draft Counseling Center

The Springfield Draft Information Center has completed its second year of operation in the Springfield and Wittenberg Communities. The purpose of the Center has been to supply legal information to draft-age men in high school and college. In connection with this goal, the Center published a short booklet which serves as an introduction to Selective Service procedures. Included in the booklet was an explanation of the recently enacted Lottery system, information on Personal Appearance and Appeal procedure, how to make application for Conscientious Objector Status, Physical Standards (as established by the Army), student deferments, as well as information concerning immigration to Canada. The Center is staffed by volunteer counselors.

Concerned Black Students (top)

The purpose of CBS is to initiate and perpetuate a meaningful experience for the Black students at Wittenberg through continuous reaction to and interreaction with the white and black communities. The Black students of CBS have pledged themselves to fulfill this purpose through the implementation of the following goals:
1. To actively participate in the recruitment of more Black students, placing emphasis on those who are socio-economically distinct. 2. To establish a curriculum relevant to our distinct culture which will increase our knowledge and awareness of social conditions. 3. To assist in initiating beneficial programs in the Black community which will further coordination and control. 4. To develop cultural facilities and activities which will complement our academic and social objectives. 5. To foster friendship, respect, and Black unity among ourselves.

Newly formed this year, the Environmental Action Committee, had a full agenda. They sponsored Earth Week which included speakers such as Newsweek's Science Editor, Peter Gwynne, a teach-in, films, a multi-media show, panels, and discussions in the living units. Another project was provision of information and distribution of brochures at Springfield shopping centers on methods an individual can take to prevent pollution.

C. O. U. P. (Community Organization United for Progress) holds as its primary purpose the exposure and eradication of individual and institutional white racism. The issue committees focus on specific areas in the immediate Wittenberg community as well as the Springfield community. Members receive training in research methods as well as effective action to achieve their goals.

Encounter Action Group (above)

The Encounter Action Group formed as a response to the Black-White Encounter Program led by Charles King. In February, students presented controversial demands to the university concerning white racist actions and policies. Towards the end of the year, EAG merged with COUP and is known now as the Witt Committee.

Editors' Note

Unfortunately, this has been a year of much disappointment for the editors. We were under the assumption that this was a student publication. In reality, only a few have done the work. We feel that a yearbook would mean much more to the Wittenberg community if a larger number of students were willing to contribute and take their responsibilities seriously. Without the cooperative effort of a responsible and ever-ready staff, such a mammoth task as compiling a yearbook becomes an endless chore. Lacking this vital interest, one questions the validity of having a yearbook at all . . .

If asked to state a theme for the 1970 WITT, we would say people—their attitudes, ideas, actions and reactions to a changing Wittenberg. Several modifications were made in this year's book. Instead of the usual roster in the Organization Section, we felt we portrayed a more accurate picture of the year by including brief summaries of each group's activities. Through the use of special photographic effects and spot color, we added variation.

Our sincere thanks go to those few who helped so much in the creation of the 1970 WITT. Ida Ronan devoted many hours to encouraging and assisting us, and Michael Smith projected our thoughts in the color section as only he could. Our photographers, David Lorenz and Bill Snyder, were great! David's special effects and Snyd's end sheets deserve recognition. During the summer, Mrs. Peters, Mrs. Dunbar, John, Brian and Wayne Dunbar and several Upward Bound students dedicated endless hours to the production of this book.

Also contributing were: Debbie Leyda, Publicity; Sue Stafford, Classes; Nancy Gentzler, Academics; Marcia Toyama, Sports; Micki Greenawalt and Russ Heaps, Greeks; Chris Kaiser, Organizations; Karen Jopperi, Senior Directory; Julie Foutz, Index; Pat Simmons, Layout. Special thanks also goes to Anne Friday, our Business Manager. We also appreciate the help of the other staff members who assisted.

A final note of appreciation goes to the contributing photographers, Jim Voris, John Mason and Gwaine Banks; to Jerry Salmen, last year's editor; to Ken Dickerson, our yearbook advisor; and to Terry Hirtzinger, Taylor's helpful representative.
